'Outsiders' Blamed In School Bombing

Osage, W.Va., Blast Probed By FBI, Police

Model Integrated School Dynamiting Angers Community

OSAGE, W. Va. (UPI)—A case of dynamite, expertly detonated, wrecked the 17-room Osage elementary-junior high school Monday, for five years a model of peaceful integration.

The bombing shocked this mining community, whose Negro and white residents have lived in racial peace since the rich coal seams of the area were opened more than 50 years ago. They had welcomed the end of segregated schools here in 1954.

The blast ripped through the main hallway of the 2½ - story brick building at 2:15 a.m. e.s.t., damaging the structure beyond repair and jarring the homes of the town's 800 residents, 40 per cent of whom are Negro.

Before dawn FBI agents arrived to aid state police and Monongalia County Sheriff Charles J. Whiston in the investigation. But hours later, no suspects had been taken into custody and even the motive for the dynamiting was not clear.

Wire Segment Found

Sheriff Whiston said two charges of dynamite had been detonated simultaneously at two points in the main first floor corridor. Investigators found a 300-foot segment of wire leading through a gymnasium window to a driveway behind the building.

School authorities closed both the blasted building, which served 398 pupils including 93 negroes, and another elementary school 300 yards away. They hoped to get the students back to classes by Wednesday by doubling up in the unaffected building and farming pupils out to neighboring schools, such as those of the county seat of Morgantown, about three miles away.

Schools of Monongalia County have been desegregated since the U.S. Supreme Court's integration decision of 1954. There has been no racial conflict here.

"This is the last thing we could expect," Supt. of Schools Charles Stevenson declared. "We never had any difficulty."

Residents Express Indignation

Residents of the community were indignant. They blamed "outsiders" for the dynamiting, which buckled the walls of the building, shattered the windows and brought plaster crashing down on splintered desks.

Victor Shine a coal miner who has worked side-by-side with Negroes in the mine - honeycombed hills of the district, declared faltly:

"Outsiders from the South are to blame."

Since the start of integration, northern West Virginia had been free from the violence which hit cities such as Clinton, Tenn., Jacksonville, Fla., and Birmingham, Ala. Anonymous threats of bombings were rampant in Miami, Fla., during the week end, but the blast here came without warning.

Efforts To Rescue Cat From Crevice Fail

ATLANTA (AP)—Tennie, a 2-year-old cat imprisoned eight days in a narrow crevice between two buildings, continued faint cries Monday as rescuers tried new ways to bring it out.

Firemen, police, the Atlanta Humane Society and neighbors have used varying efforts to release the animal without success.

The cat, one of two owned by Clarence Coursey, 67, former restaurant operator, jumped to a window ledge of a small hotel where Coursey lives and fell into a 4-to-6-inch-wide space separating the hotel from an adjoining building. It dropped about 15 feet into a space filled with bits of paper, old brick fragments, bottles and other debris.

Soviet Premier Demands End To Berlin Occupation

Khrushchev May Attempt To Junk Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Monday demanded an end to four-power occupation of Berlin. He hinted the Soviet Union is ready to free itself of treaty obligations to the West on freedom of transport between isolated West Berlin and West Germany.

The Soviet leader told a Polish-Soviet friendship meeting at Lenin Stadium "the time has evidently come for the powers which signed the Potsdam agreement to give up the remnants of the occupation regime in Berlin."

(The United States, Britain and West Germany all turned a cold shoulder on the idea.)

Legal Basis For Stay Forfeited

Khrushchev declared the Western powers "long ago abolished that legal basis on which their stay in Berlin rested" and on which rights of communications between West Germany and West Berlin depend.

West Berlin is an occupied enclave 110 miles deep in Communist East Germany. The Soviet blockade of Berlin's transport lifelines in 1948-49 was beaten by an Allied airlift.

Denouncing the Western powers, which he claimed had fostered militarism in West Germany, he declared: "And on top of everything they enjoy the right of unhampered communication between West Berlin and West Germany by air, rail, highways and the waterways of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), which they do not even wish to recognize."

"Obsolete" Obligations

He said the Soviet Union had every reason "to free ourselves of those obsolete treaty obligations bound up with the Potsdam agreement to which the Western powers are clinging."

Let the three Western powers, he declared, "form their own relations with the German Democratic Republic and come to an agreement with it if they are interested in certain questions concerning Berlin."

Having thus made the points that the four-power occupation of Berlin should cease, that Western rights of free transport and communication with Berlin are bsolete and that the Western powers should deal with East Germany regarding the future of Berlin, he declared the Soviet Union will go to East Germany's aid if it is attacked by the Western powers.

U.N. Mission Accepted By Sen. Johnson

Majority Leader To Speak For U.S. On Space Question

SEATTLE (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said Monday night Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas has accepted a mission to the United Nations to support the United States effort to achieve the peaceful control of outer space.

Dulles said in a statement that, "In order to make clear to the world how much all Americans agree on the importance of this subject and in view of the deep congressional interest in it, I have with the President's approval asked Sen. Johnson to go to the General Assembly to make a statement during the debate."

He said that he was pleased to announce that Johnson has accepted the assignment.

No date has yet been set for consideration of the outer space question but it is expected to come before the General Assembly's Political Committee within a matter of days.

Johnson is chairman of the Senate Space and Aeronautics Committee created last year.

The United States has made the first move in the U. N. to bring the problem of peaceful control of outer space under its jurisdiction.

The Dulles appointment of Johnson appeared to be the administration's first move since last week's election in carrying out a stronger bipartisan policy. In announcing the appointment of Johnson, Dulles, however, recalled that the U.S. delegation to the U. N. General Assembly "is, as always, bipartisan."

Both Sens. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Mansfield (D-Mont) are at present on the U.S. delegation.

Free Nations Urged To Help Fight Tyranny

President Unfolds Five-Point Program At Colombo Meeting

SEATTLE (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday outlined a major five-point program of long-term economic assistance to Free Asia. He called on other free nations to join the United States in sharing the burden of a "great crusade for growth in freedom."

"By working together to create hope of progress," he said, "we raise barriers against tyranny and the war which tyranny breeds."

Eisenhower's 21-minute address opening the 10th Consultative Committee meeting of 18 nations at the Colombo Plan conference was warmly received.

Some 200 Asian and Western leaders and their delegations, representing one-third of the world's population, stood and applauded the President as he entered the conference room. Twice again they broke into applaus and gave him another rousing hand as he left for a return flight to Washington.

Prime Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand and the foreign ministers of Canada, Cambodia, Indonesia, Nepal and Viet Nam formally replied to the President's talk. Their responses in general strongly endorsed the program Eisenhower unfolded to them.

Britain Welcomes Plan

Britain's minister of state for foreign affairs, Allan Noble, said he welcomed the priority Eisenhower has given to sound economic development as a necessary condition for maintaining the growth of free nations.

Secretary of State Dulles presided over the conference and adjourned its first session upon the President's departure. In his message, the President said much has been accomplished but still more remains to be done to relieve human suffering and want throughout the less-developed areas of the world.

"Many despair that their labor will ever decently shelter their families or protect them against disease," he said. "Wherever free men lose hope of progress, liberty will be weakened and the seeds of conflict will be sown."

The President did not directly allude to the threat of world communism, particularly in this area. But he made his meaning clear in his reference to the danger of tyranny.

No Estimate Of Cost

Eisenhower did not estimate the cost of his five-point economic proposals. He carefully stipulated that portions of the program are subject to the approval of Congress.

The administration is reported thinking in terms of one billion dollars a year in development loans which would be repaid in the currency of the borrowing country. The President also urged other nations to join with the United States in extending such credits to needy Asian governments.

Eisenhower's five points were:

1. An expanding high level of trade with less international restrictions.

2. An intensified program of technical assistance to other countries through the U.S. foreign aid program and the United Nations technical assistance program.

3. More emphasis on private investments as a means for speeding economic growth.

4. More public loans for such projects as highways to be provided on normal banking terms.

5. More loans for development financing which would permit borrowing countries to repay their debts in whole or in part through the country's own currency.

West Rejects Russian Move To Clog Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and its allies quickly rejected Monday an attempt by the Soviet Union to hamstring with cold war political issues the technical talks on prevention of surprise attacks.

U.S. delegation leader William C. Foster reminded the Soviets that the conference—which opened at noon—was organized to study complex scientific and military problems.

From the facts so determined, he said, it might be possible to organize an international system to lessen the danger of any country being struck again by a Pearl Harbor-like blow.

Across the table, Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister Vassili Kuznetsov voiced sweeping demands for nuclear and conventional disarmament without going into the problem of guarantees and controls.

In the usual Communist terms he attacked American foreign policy, blaming the United States for a worldwide armaments race.

In a flat voice, Kuzenetsov described the Soviet Union as "carrying out a peace loving foreign policy based on the principles of peaceful coexistence."

"With regard to the prevention of a surprise attack, it is necessary to emphasize that reliable measures for prevention of an attack can be worked out only on condition of the complete prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons, the removal of such weapons from the armaments of states, the destruction of their stocks, the liquidation of military bases on foreign territory and a substantial reduction of conventional weapons and armed forces," he said.

In the Western view, Kuznetsov's remark could only be interpreted as a Soviet attempt to twist the 10-nation conference entirely out of shape—to clog the proceedings by tossing in all the disarmament problems over which East and West have disagreed since the end of World War II.

Hussein Chased By Syria MIGs

New Mideast Crisis Threatens

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Young King Hussein charged Monday two MIG jet fighters attempted to force down his unarmed royal plane in a flight over Syria and then chased him back across the Jordan border. He made no mention of any shots being fired.

Hussein, in a dramatic broadcast to the nation, explained his unexpected return home less than two hours after taking off amid cheers to cleebrate his 24th birthday Nov. 14 with members of his family in Switzerland. He declared this trip has now been canceled.

Hussein spoke in solemn but firm tones that gave no indication he had been unnerved. He was unharmed; the royal plane undamaged. The King was riding as copilot.

(A spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army in Syria—without mentioning Hussein—charged a Jordanian "military plane" was caught trying to fly over the country without getting official clearance. The U.A.R. army statement broadcast by Cairo radio said the pilot refused an order to land and was escorted to the border after saying he was returning to Jordan.

("Our planes could have forced it to land in Damascus airport or shot it down in case it refused to land," the U.A.R. spokesman said. "But the truth is our planes escorted it without interference until it left Syrian air space.")

King Hussein made his broadcast after a long emergency meeting with his Cabinet. Jordan's Parliament was called into session Tuesday. A national holiday was declared Tuesday, too, "to celebrate the King's safe return."

The incident dealt a serious blow to efforts to promote better relations between Jordan and President Nasser's U.A.R — of which Syria is a part.

Hussein charged that two Soviet-made Syrian MIGs rose to challenge his twin - engined De Haviland Dove—a slow light transport with a cruisng speed of only 200 miles an hour—over Syria and made six passes at the royal plane.

The King gave this account:

On reaching the Syrian frontier, he radioed his presence and received permission to proceed. When his craft was 15 miles from Damascus, he contacted Damascus Airport for permission to overfly. But here Damascus airfield authorities replied they had no permit for his plane, which was an hour behind the field flight plan.

The pilot replied to Damascus Airport that in this situation, the King would return to Amman. Damascus airport radioed it would not allow this, but must insist that Hussein's plane land at Damascus.

Hussein accused the MIGs of violating international law by following him back into Jordanian air space.

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — Forty-three persons were arrested Monday night on charges of plotting to assassinate top leaders of this young state and overthrow the government.

Appeals Court Order Brushed Off By Faubus

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) —A federal court Monday ordered Little Rock to proceed with school integration, but Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus declared he was sure that new white, private high schools would continue.

The U.S. Eighth Court of Appeals here directed the Federal District Court of Arkansas to issue an injunction spelling out what the Little Rock School Board must do to obey the Supreme Court's stand against racial segregation of public schools.

The injunction will forbid the school board to lease school buildings for private, segregated operation and from doing anything to "thwart or frustrate the execution of the integration plan," the court said.

Faubus, in New Orleans to address a mass White Citizens' Council rally, told a news conference he was "sure that the private schools in Little Rock will continue."

The private schools were set up after Faubus closed Little Rock's four public high schools rather than let them operate on a racially integrated basis.

Faubus commented that "I do not think it is anticipated by anyone that the federal courts will close all private schools in the nation, thus denying a basic American right that has been exercised even before the founding of the republic."

In Little Rock five of the six members of the school board said they would decide within the next 24 to 36 hours whether to quit their posts and let a new board

Official Canvass Apparently Gives Shipley Victory

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP)—Democrat George E. Shipley picked up 170 votes in an official canvass Monday night, apparently becoming the winner of a seat in Congress over eight-term veteran Rep. Charles W. Vursell (R-Ill).

The Shipley-Vursell contest in Illinois' 23rd District was the nation's only undecided congressional race.

Correction of election night errors in recording votes gave Shipley the margin in the 14th of the district's counties to report official figures.

Robert Austin, Fayette County clerk, said a telephone error Tuesday gave Vursell 100 votes too many and a mistake in addition gave him another 60.

Shipley, 31-year-old Richland County sheriff, picked up 10 votes in the Fayette County canvass.

With Lawrence County still to report official figures, the totals stood at Shipley, 65,099; Vursell, 64,923.

Jury Quickly Seated For Beck Tax Trial

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—A jury of eight men and four women was impaneled in Federal District Court here Monday for the income tax evasion trial of former Teamster boss Dave Beck.

With firm authority, U. S. District Judge George H. Boldt held courtroom maneuvers and legal tactics to a minimum and kept court in session for four hours and 15 minutes to seat the jury. The only break in all this time was a 15-minute recess.

Belgian Priest Awarded Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO (UPI)—The 1958 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded Monday to Belgian Dominican monk, the Rev. Dominique Georges Pire, for his humanitarian work in finding new homes for Europe's refugees.

The Nobel Prize Committee bypassed world statesmen to give the $42,80 award to the humble monk — the first Roman Catholic priest to receive the peace prize.

Father Pire, 48, is most noted for his "L'Europe du Coeur" (Europe of the Heart) movement, under which he has resettled thousands of refugees, including hundreds from Communist Hungary, and made them feel useful again.

In Huys, Belgium, where he had just entered a monastic retreat to seek "spiritual strength", Father Pire promptly said he would use his prize money to build more refugee facilities and to begin work on the sixth of his "Europa villages" for displaced persons.

Jap Volcano Erupts

KARUIZAWA, Japan (AP) — Volcanic Mt. Asama erupted Monday night, spewing ashes and molten rocks 30,000 feet. Window glass splintered by the explosion injured two persons, police said.

The Karuizawa Meteorological Station said the eruption was the heaviest since Sept. 18, 1929. Asama last erupted in June 1955.

Arms-Laden Plane, 22 Cubans Seized

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—An arms-laden plane and 22 men identified as Cuban rebels or sympathizers were seized Monday amid gunfire that followed a police swoop on loading operations at an abandoned airfield.

Machine gun fire from federal and local officers flattened tires of an automobile in which five of the men tried to flee. They surrendered, unhurt. One other man got away on foot.

U. S. Border Patrol officer Robert W. Gilbert said the 22 captives were booked on charges of violating the Neutrality Act.

Gilbert said that rifles, submachine guns, ammunition and field equipment in packages marked "Fidel" were loaded from 10 automobiles onto the two-engined Lockheed Lodestar plane—U. S. registered—which flew onto the former Prospect Airfield half an hour earlier.

Cargo Plane Catches Fire, Runs Wild On Takeoff At Idlewild, Rams Airliner

NEW YORK (AP)—A big cargo plane ran wild on takeoff at Idlewild Airport Monday. Spouting flame, it careened like a fiery arrow across the busy field and crashed explosively into a passenger plane about to load.

Hundreds of lives were momentarily imperilled, but by sheer coincidence of timing, not a life was lost and only eight persons suffered minor injuries. Most of these were injured while fighting the fire.

A seething cauldron of orange flame boiled more than 50 feet into the gray autumn sky as the runaway plane smashed into the parked aircraft only about 20 feet from Idlewild's domestic airline terminal.

Two stewardesses scrambled for their lives from the passenger plane. Scores of terminal employes fled in panic. Hundreds of persons inside the terminal and on ramps stood stunned into immobility by the rush of potential disaster.

"We were awfully lucky—terribly lucky," said Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority, which operates the airport. "The fire threatened the entire terminal. It is difficult to see why the terminal did not catch fire."

The passenger plane, a 1½-million-dollar Trans-Canada Airlines Viscount, was within minutes of starting to load 40 passengers for flight to Montreal. At the time of the crash—11:01 a. m. EST—the passengers still were a safe distance from the plane.

The other plane, a two-million-dollar Seaboard and Western Super Constellation, was a cargo ship taking off on a routine training flight. Aboard were a crew of five, all of whom escaped.

The cargo plane caught fire on the runway, just at the point of takeoff. As it veered toward the passenger plane, two of its blazing engines fell off and tumbled in its wake.

Capt. Ralph Neary, 38, of Stony Brook, N. Y., who was aboard the cargo plane but not at the controls, said: "We were just at the point of taking off when the airplane swerved sharply to the left. What caused it we don't know as yet. . ."

Hope Wanes For Finding Seaplane With 36 Aboard

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Planes and ships scoured the Atlantic Monday for signs of a missing Portuguese plane but as the hours passed hope waned for finding the craft and the 36 persons aboard. The plane made a forced landing Sunday off the coast of Portugal.

Six of those aboard are Americans.

One search plane reported picking up a distress signal Monday morning but it was so faint and garbled the pilot could not make it out. Lt. George Beaver, pilot of the U. S. Navy Neptune, said he spotted oil in the area, about 180 miles west of the southern tip of Portugal, but in subsequent sweeps failed to see any signs of wreckage or rafts.

The plane, a twin-engine converted Martin Marine seaplane, was en route from Lisbon to the Madeira Islands when engine trouble forced it to sit down on the sea an hour out of Lisbon. The weather was clear and fine then, in the position radioed by the British pilot, but there was a heavy swell Monday and a 22-knot northeast wind.

The plane, which formerly belonged to the U. S. Air Force, was owned by the Artop Airline, which inaugurated Lisbon - Madeira service Oct. 1.

In addition to the Americans, the passengers included seven Germans, five Britons, three Belgians, two Frenchmen and seven Portuguese. The crew of six included two Britons and four Portuguese.

Today's Weather
Mostly sunny, high 45-52.

New Mideast Crisis Threatens

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Young King Hussein charged Monday two MIG jet fighters attempted to force down his unarmed royal plane in a flight over Syria and then chased him back across the Jordan border. He made no mention of any shots being fired.

Hussein, in a dramatic broadcast to the nation, explained his unexpected return home less than two hours after taking off amid cheers to cleebrate his 24th birthday Nov. 14 with members of his family in Switzerland. He declared this trip has now been canceled.

Hussein spoke in solemn but firm tones that gave no indication he had been unnerved. He was unharmed; the royal plane undamaged. The King was riding as copilot.

(A spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army in Syria—without mentioning Hussein—charged a Jordanian "military plane" was caught trying to fly over the country without getting official clearance. The U.A.R. army statement broadcast by Cairo radio said the pilot refused an order to land and was escorted to the border after saying he was returning to Jordan.

("Our planes could have forced it to land in Damascus airport or shot it down in case it refused to land," the U.A.R. spokesman said. "But the truth is our planes escorted it without interference until it left Syrian air space.")

King Hussein made his broadcast after a long emergency meeting with his Cabinet. Jordan's Parliament was called into session Tuesday. A national holiday was declared Tuesday, too, "to celebrate the King's safe return."

The incident dealt a serious blow to efforts to promote better relations between Jordan and President Nasser's U.A.R — of which Syria is a part.

Hussein charged that two Soviet-made Syrian MIGs rose to challenge his twin - engined De Haviland Dove—a slow light transport with a cruisng speed of only 200 miles an hour—over Syria and made six passes at the royal plane.

The King gave this account:

On reaching the Syrian frontier, he radioed his presence and received permission to proceed. When his craft was 15 miles from Damascus, he contacted Damascus Airport for permission to overfly. But here Damascus airfield authorities replied they had no permit for his plane, which was an hour behind the field flight plan.

The pilot replied to Damascus Airport that in this situation, the King would return to Amman. Damascus airport radioed it would not allow this, but must insist that Hussein's plane land at Damascus.

Hussein accused the MIGs of violating international law by following him back into Jordanian air space.

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — Forty-three persons were arrested Monday night on charges of plotting to assassinate top leaders of this young state and overthrow the government.

Appeals Court Order Brushed Off By Faubus

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) —A federal court Monday ordered Little Rock to proceed with school integration, but Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus declared he was sure that new white, private high schools would continue.

The U.S. Eighth Court of Appeals here directed the Federal District Court of Arkansas to issue an injunction spelling out what the Little Rock School Board must do to obey the Supreme Court's stand against racial segregation of public schools.

The injunction will forbid the school board to lease school buildings for private, segregated operation and from doing anything to "thwart or frustrate the execution of the integration plan," the court said.

Faubus, in New Orleans to address a mass White Citizens' Council rally, told a news conference he was "sure that the private schools in Little Rock will continue."

The private schools were set up after Faubus closed Little Rock's four public high schools rather than let them operate on a racially integrated basis.

Faubus commented that "I do not think it is anticipated by anyone that the federal courts will close all private schools in the nation, thus denying a basic American right that has been exercised even before the founding of the republic."

In Little Rock five of the six members of the school board said they would decide within the next 24 to 36 hours whether to quit their posts and let a new board

Official Canvass Apparently Gives Shipley Victory

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP)—Democrat George E. Shipley picked up 170 votes in an official canvass Monday night, apparently becoming the winner of a seat in Congress over eight-term veteran Rep. Charles W. Vursell (R-Ill).

The Shipley-Vursell contest in Illinois' 23rd District was the nation's only undecided congressional race.

Correction of election night errors in recording votes gave Shipley the margin in the 14th of the district's counties to report official figures.

Robert Austin, Fayette County clerk, said a telephone error Tuesday gave Vursell 100 votes too many and a mistake in addition gave him another 60

Shipley, 31-year-old Richland County sheriff, picked up 10 votes in the Fayette County canvass.

With Lawrence County still to report official figures, the totals stood at Shipley, 65,099; Vursell, 64,923.

Jury Quickly Seated For Beck Tax Trial

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—A jury of eight men and four women was impaneled in Federal District Court here Monday for the income tax evasion trial of former Teamster boss Dave Beck.

With firm authority, U. S. District Judge George H. Boldt held courtroom maneuvers and legal tactics to a minimum and kept court in session for four hours and 15 minutes to seat the jury. The only break in all this time was a 15-minute recess.

West Rejects Russian Move To Clog Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and its allies quickly rejected Monday an attempt by the Soviet Union to hamstring with cold war political issues the technical talks on prevention of surprise attacks.

U.S. delegation leader William C. Foster reminded the Soviets that the conference—which opened at noon—was organized to study complex scientific and military problems.

From the facts so determined, he said, it might be possible to organize an international system to lessen the danger of any country being struck again by a Pearl Harbor-like blow.

Across the table, Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister Vassili Kuznetsov voiced sweeping demands for nuclear and conventional disarmament without going into the problem of guarantees and controls.

In the usual Communist terms he attacked American foreign policy, blaming the United States for a worldwide armaments race.

In a flat voice, Kuzenetsov described the Soviet Union as "carrying out a peace loving foreign policy based on the principles of peaceful coexistence."

"With regard to the prevention of a surprise attack, it is necessary to emphasize that reliable measures for prevention of an attack can be worked out only on condition of the complete prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons, the removal of such weapons from the armaments of states, the destruction of their stocks, the liquidation of military bases on foreign territory and a substantial reduction of conventional weapons and armed forces," he said.

In the Western view, Kuznetsov's remark could only be interpreted as a Soviet attempt to twist the 10-nation conference entirely out of shape—to clog the proceedings by tossing in all the disarmament problems over which East and West have disagreed since the end of World War II.

Belgian Priest Awarded Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO (UPI)—The 1958 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded Monday to Belgian Dominican monk, the Rev. Dominique Georges Pire, for his humanitarian work in finding new homes for Europe's refugees.

The Nobel Prize Committee bypassed world statesmen to give the $42,80. award to the humble monk — the first Roman Catholic priest to receive the peace prize.

Father Pire, 48, is most noted for his "L'Europe du Coeur" (Europe of the Heart) movement, under which he has resettled thousands of refugees, including hundreds from Communist Hungary, and made them feel useful again.

In Huys, Belgium, where he had just entered a monastic retreat to seek "spiritual strength", Father Pire promptly said he would use his prize money to build more refugee facilities and to begin work on the sixth of his "Europa villages" for displaced persons.

Jap Volcano Erupts

KARUIZAWA, Japan (AP) — Volcanic Mt. Asama erupted Monday night, spewing ashes and molten rocks 30,000 feet. Window glass splintered by the explosion injured two persons, police said.

The Karuizawa Meteorological Station said the eruption was the heaviest since Sept. 18, 1929. Asama last erupted in June 1955.

Cargo Plane Catches Fire, Runs Wild On Takeoff At Idlewild, Rams Airliner

NEW YORK (AP)—A big cargo plane ran wild on takeoff at Idlewild Airport Monday. Spouting flame, it careened like a fiery arrow across the busy field and crashed explosively into a passenger plane about to load.

Hundreds of lives were momentarily imperilled, but by sheer coincidence of timing, not a life was lost and only eight persons suffered minor injuries. Most of these were injured while fighting the fire.

A seething cauldron of orange flame boiled more than 50 feet into the gray autumn sky as the runaway plane smashed into the parked aircraft only about 20 feet from Idlewild's domestic airline terminal.

Two stewardesses scrambled for their lives from the passenger plane. Scores of terminal employes fled in panic. Hundreds of persons inside the terminal and on ramps stood stunned into immobility by the rush of potential disaster.

"We were awfully lucky—terribly lucky," said Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority, which operates the airport. "The fire threatened the entire terminal. It is difficult to see why the terminal did not catch fire."

The passenger plane, a 1½-million-dollar Trans-Canada Airlines Viscount, was within minutes of starting to load 40 passengers for flight to Montreal. At the time of the crash—11:01 a. m. EST—the passengers still were a safe distance from the plane.

The other plane, a two-million-dollar Seaboard and Western Super Constellation, was a cargo ship taking off on a routine training flight. Aboard were a crew of five, all of whom escaped.

The cargo plane caught fire on the runway, just at the point of takeoff. As it veered toward the passenger plane, two of its blazing engines fell off and tumbled in its wake.

Capt. Ralph Neary, 38, of Stony Brook, N. Y., who was aboard the cargo plane but not at the controls, said: "We were just at the point of taking off when the airplane swerved sharply to the left. What caused it we don't know as yet..."

Hope Wanes For Finding Seaplane With 36 Aboard

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Planes and ships scoured the Atlantic Monday for signs of a missing Portuguese plane but as the hours passed hope waned for finding the craft and the 36 persons aboard. The plane made a forced landing Sunday off the coast of Portugal.

Six of those aboard are Americans.

One search plane reported picking up a distress signal Monday morning but it was so faint and garbled the pilot could not make it out. Lt. George Beaver, pilot of the U. S. Navy Neptune, said he spotted oil in the area, about 180 miles west of the southern tip of Portugal, but in subsequent sweeps failed to see any signs of wreckage or rafts.

The plane, a twin-engine converted Martin Marine seaplane, was en route from Lisbon to the Madeira Islands when engine trouble forced it to sit down on the sea an hour out of Lisbon. The weather was clear and fine then, in the position radioed by the British pilot, but there was a heavy swell Monday and a 22-knot northeast wind.

The plane, which formerly belonged to the U. S. Air Force, was owned by the Artop Airline, which inaugurated Lisbon - Madeira service Oct. 1.

In addition to the Americans, the passengers included seven Germans, five Britons, three Belgians, two Frenchmen and seven Portuguese. The crew of six included two Britons and four Portuguese.

Arms-Laden Plane, 22 Cubans Seized

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—An arms-laden plane and 22 men identified as Cuban rebels or sympathizers were seized Monday amid gunfire that followed a police swoop on loading operations at an abandoned airfield.

Machine gun fire from federal and local officers flattened tires of an automobile in which five of the men tried to flee. They surrendered, unhurt. One other man got away on foot.

U. S. Border Patrol officer Robert W. Gilbert said the 22 captives were booked on charges of violating the Neutrality Act.

Gilbert said that rifles, submachine guns, ammunition and field equipment in packages marked "Fidel" were loaded from 10 automobiles onto the two-engined Lockheed Lodestar plane—U. S. registered—which flew onto the former Prospect Airfield half an hour earlier.

Supreme Court Will Review FPC Ruling On Gas Field Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court agreed Monday to review a government ruling on natural gas prices which critics claim is adding millions of dollars to consumers' fuel bills.

At issue is a Federal Power Commission (FPC) interpretation of the law, which involves field prices of gas. The high court now will hear arguments and hand down a decision later.

The FPC's ruling is being challenged by the Oklahoma Natural Gas Co. and the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers.

They are appealing lower court decisions upholding a proposal by the Natural Gas Pipeline Co., to meet expanded demands from users in the Chicago area. Natural's pipeline extends from Fritch, Tex., through Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa to Joliet, Ill.

The company won FPC permission to extend the line southeasterly from Fritch to a point in Grady County, Okla. The line would then go south to gas fields in Jack and Wise counties in north Texas, site of one of the largest recently-discovered gas reserves in this country.

Natural proposed buying gas for its expanded service from three independent producers — Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co., Warren Petroleum Corp., and Oil Drilling Inc.—at an initial price of 13.9 cents a thousand cubic feet.

Oklahoma Natural Gas Co. maintained that Natural's proposed price exceeded the 11-cent prevailing rate in that area.

It said this would open the way "for continued spiraling of the field prices of gas, with consequent widespread and unwarranted windfalls to the producers at the expense of the ultimate consumers..."

Old Whisky Bottle Sales Worry IRS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam is concerned about your old whisky bottles.

Reports have come to the Internal Revenue Service that the sale of old bottles—which is unlawful—has increased.

The service said the refill boys hope to put inferior quality whisky in bottles with expensive brand labels and peddle them for Christmas gifts.

U.S. And Iran Draft Defense Pact At Tehran

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is negotiating a defense agreement with Iran and will sign it—despite Soviet warnings—when informal talks in Tehran are concluded.

State Department officials, in reporting this Monday, said they did not see any reason for Moscow to be either surprised or alarmed.

The United States, they said, had pledged at the London conference of Baghdad Pact nations last July to cooperate in strengthening "the united defense posture in the area." This is well-known in the Kremlin.

In the London declaration, Secretary of State Dulles promised on behalf of the United States "to promptly enter into agreements designed to give effect to this cooperation."

The Tehran talks are aimed at following through on the London declaration, press officer Joseph W. Reap told reporters at the State Department.

Reap and other department officials stressed that no military treaty is contemplated. Such a treaty would require Senate confirmation, they said. President Eisenhower can conclude agreements in the spirit of the London declaration under his constitutional authority.

The London conference of Baghdad Pact nations came in the wake of a coup d'etat in Iraq, host member. The coup liquidated the pro-Western regime of King Faisal and transformed Iraq into a neutral republic.

Though Iraq did not formally withdraw from the pact, it did not attend the London discussions either. Headquarters of the pact were moved from Baghdad to Ankara.

Bruner Execution Reset For Dec. 12

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Cabell County Common Pleas Judge Raymond I. Lucas Monday reset for Dec. 12 the execution of convicted slayer Elmer David Bruner of Huntington.

Bruner, convicted on May 28, 1957, in the slaying of Mrs. Ruby H. Miller, 58, wife of a Huntington contractor, was originally sentenced to die in the electric chair at Moundsville penitentiary the following September. However, the execution date was postponed pending the outcome of appeals, which were rejected.

Factory Employment Skids Due To Strikes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Factory unemployment rose by 190,000 in October because of a rash of strikes to strike a sour note in an otherwise generally favorable job picture, the government reported Monday.

The number of workers idled by labor - management disputes was the largest since the 1956 steel strike.

The Labor and Commerce departments said in a joint report that the skid in factory employment to 15,553,000 contrasted with a rise of 677,000 in total employment. That meant 65,306,000 Americans were listed as working.

Alleged Arms Smuggler Held For Grand Jury

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI) — A 34-year-old Florida pilot arrested in connection with the alleged ferrying of stolen firearms to Cuban rebels was held Monday for U. S. District Court grand jury action. The jury is expected to convene here about March 17.

Stuart Sutor, Hialeah, Fla., was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner L. T. Eddy who set bail at $20,000. Sutor was remanded to the Marion County jail pending the posting of bond which is Florida attorneys said would be within the next day or two.

Federal warrants against Sutor charged him with four counts generally dealing with the unlawful transportation of firearms. One charged him with failing to pay a transfer tax on two .50 caliber machine guns found on his twin-engine Beechcraft after it landed at Morgantown Airport last Tuesday when he was arrested by state and county authorities.

His cargo, now in the possession of U. S. Marshal John Barr in Fairmont, included 123 other firearms, all of which had been stolen three weeks earlier from a National Guard armory in Canton, Ohio. The plane impounded by government officials is now in the Martinsburg hangar of the West Virginia Air National Guard.

Waitress Abducted, Robbed By 2 Youths

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 22-year-old waitress told police she was robbed of $50 and taken on a 5-mile ride by two armed youths who bragged of six other robberies Sunday night and early Monday.

Lillian Hardin said she was forced at gunpoint into a car and driven about five miles before she was released unharmed in nearby Baltimore County.

Before taking her on the ride, Miss Hardin said the youths took $50 from the cash register of the diner she manages on U. S. 40 in the northeast section o fthe city.

As they drove around the city, Miss Hardin said the taller of the pair told her he had held up six other places earlier in the evening.

"I asked him if he kidnapped someone every time," she said, "and he told me I was not being kidnaped but was just being taken for a ride so I could not call the police until they had time to get out of the state."

Train Strikes Strolling Couple, Killing Girl, 14

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—An engineer on a New York Central work train Monday suddenly spotted a girl and a man strolling arm in arm down the tracks ahead of his speeding locomotive.

He jerked the whistle cord again and again. They never turned heads.

Frantically, the engineer Edward Washburn, 62, threw on the air brakes. It was too late.

The girl, Eleanor Sendall, only 14 years old, was killed. The man, Anthony Morse, 24, lost a leg and was taken to St. John's Riverside Hospital too dazed to explain the mystery of their last walk together.

The trackage is on part of the Central's abandoned Putnam Division.

Lead To Burglars Sought At Cambridge

WINGATE, Md. (AP) — Teams of FBI agents, state and county police turned their attention to Cambridge Monday in an effort to pick up a lead to the burglars who got $162,000 from George O. Powley's general store Saturday.

James Kelly, special agent in charge of the FBI in Baltimore, had little comment on the progress of the investigation except to say, "We're giving it plenty of action."

Half a dozen state troopers, an equal number of Dorchester County sheriff's deputies and a reported total of eight FBI agents concentrated their joint probe on Cambridge — the county seat, about 30 miles due north of this tidewater community of about 500 fisherfolk.

Girl Refused DAR Award Now Citizen

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Ilse Naujoks of Marlboro, who was refused a high school good citizen award by the Daughters of the American Revolution last March because she wasn't an American citizen, became one Monday.

She was one of 130 persons who took the oath of allegiance before U. S. Dist. Court Judge Francis J. W. Ford. Ilse is 19.

The German-born and retiring, blonde, blue-eyed Ilse became the center of a controversy, much against her will, when the DAR explained its rules forbade a good citizen award to any person not a citizen.

M'Keldin Takes Ride In Jetliner

BALTIMORE (AP) — Britain's Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia, Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, World Bank President Eugene R. Black and other government and business notables took their first ride in a jet airplane Monday.

They were guests of British Overseas Airways Corp. on a 1½-hour demonstration flight — first of a series being conducted in major cities — of the new Comet 4 airliner.

BOAC, which inaugurated weekly Comet service across the Atlantic Oct. 4, announced on the demonstration flight here that it would start daily New York-London Comet flights next Friday.

The Comet 4 — carrying 48 passengers, a flight crew of four, and four stewards and stewardesses—lifted easily off the runway.

"Look at that," exclaimed Gov. McKeldin. "We had 900 feet of runway to spare.

"That proves that we were looking far ahead when we designed Friendship Airport."

Half a dozen state troopers, an equal number of Dorchester County sheriff's deputies and a reported total of eight FBI agents concentrated their joint probe on Cambridge — the county seat, about 30 miles due north of this tidewater community of about 500 fisherfolk.

Girl Refused DAR Award Now Citizen

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Ilse Naujoks of Marlboro, who was refused a high school good citizen award by the Daughters of the American Revolution last March because she wasn't an American citizen, became one Monday.

She was one of 130 persons who took the oath of allegiance before U. S. Dist. Court Judge Francis J. W. Ford. Ilse is 19.

The German-born and retiring, blonde, blue-eyed Ilse became the center of a controversy, much against her will, when the DAR explained its rules forbade a good citizen award to any person not a citizen.

M'Keldin Takes Ride In Jetliner

BALTIMORE (AP) — Britain's Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia, Maryland's Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, World Bank President Eugene R. Black and other government and business notables took their first ride in a jet airplane Monday.

They were guests of British Overseas Airways Corp. on a 1½-hour demonstration flight — first of a series being conducted in major cities — of the new Comet 4 airliner.

BOAC, which inaugurated weekly Comet service across the Atlantic Oct. 4, announced on the demonstration flight here that it would start daily New York-London Comet flights next Friday.

The Comet 4 — carrying 48 passengers, a flight crew of four, and four stewards and stewardesses—lifted easily off the runway.

"Look at that," exclaimed Gov. McKeldin. "We had 900 feet of runway to spare.

"That proves that we were looking far ahead when we designed Friendship Airport."

AT&T Adds Four Points As Stocks Hit New High

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks soared into new high ground on the leadership of blue blood American Telephone which ran up 4 points to 200¾, its highest price since 1931, amid rumors recurring of a dividend boost to come.

Telephone headed a list of good gainers which included Eastman Kodak with a 3 point rise, Du Pont up nearly 2; Inland Steel 4½ higher; U. S. Steel up close to 2; Douglas Aircraft, more than 2 higher; Zenith up over 8.

Volume increased to 3,730,000 shares from 3,700,000 on Friday.

Helping market sentiment were favorable business news items such as the highest steel industry operating schedule in more than a year; a 79 - million dollar Navy contract award announced by Douglas Aircraft and a drop of 300,000 in the nation's unemployment rolls.

There were good gainers in virtually all groups. One of the few declines of size was a drop of more than 3 points in U. S. Borax on its dividend omission.

Kerr McGee featured in oils with a gain of more than 3 and Kern County rose 2.

Steel gains of a point to 2 appeared in Republic, Armco, Allegheny-Ludlum. Among non - ferrous metals, Reynolds and Magma each gained close to 2.

Pharmaceuticals were in demand with Pfizer up close to 2, American Home Products 3.

Ford featured motors with a rise of over a point.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks soared into new high ground on the leadership of blue blood American Telephone which ran up 4 points to 200¾, its highest price since 1931, amid rumors recurring of a dividend boost to come.

Telephone headed a list of good gainers which included Eastman Kodak with a 3 point rise, Du ont up nearly 2; Inland Steel 4½ higher; U. S. Steel up close to 2; Douglas Aircraft, more than 2 higher; Zenith up over 8.

Volume increased to 3,730,000 shares from 3,700,000 on Friday.

Kerr McGee featured in oils with a gain of more than 3 and Kern County rose 2.

Steel gains of a point to 2 appeared in Republic, Armco, Allegheny-Ludlum. Among non - ferrous metals, Reynolds and Magma each gained close to 2.

Q: How do you feel about Blue Cross?

A: "I wouldn't be without Blue Cross!"

"I spent a week in the hospital last March and Blue Cross covered the bill in full. They paid the hospital directly, too; I didn't have to file any claim or wait for repayment. I know I can call on Blue Cross when I need it . . . that's a good feeling. I wouldn't be without Blue Cross!"

says Wm. D. Griffith, Assembler, The Black & Decker Mfg. Co., Towson

A: "Blue Cross is still our choice today!"

"When we originally instituted a hospitalization plan, we chose Blue Cross for the soundness and scope of its coverage. Blue Cross gave our personnel comprehensive protection. At the same time, it fitted nicely into our employee benefit program. It proved easy to administer, with no detail work or red tape. This is as true now as it was years ago. That's why Blue Cross is still our choice today!"

says Alonzo G. Decker, Jr., Exec. Vice Pres., The Black & Decker Mfg. Co., Towson

The Maryland Blue Cross Plan has only one purpose: to provide Marylanders with the greatest amount of protection against hospital bills at the lowest possible cost.

Blue Cross is non-profit—except for its extremely low operating expenses, the Plan's entire income is used to pay subscribers' hospital bills.

With Blue Cross, you're protected wherever you go—even if you move or change jobs. And as a Blue Cross subscriber you're protected after retirement—regardless of your age—for the rest of your life!

City Adopts New Policy On Vacations

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved an ordinance to take effect December 30 which will drastically affect vacation periods for new employes hired on or after that date.

Present employes, including classified and police and firemen, or those hired before the effective date of the ordinance, will be entitled to 15 days' vacation after one year service, as is presently provided.

The ordinance approved yesterday will then put the following regulations into effect:

Employes, whether hourly or rated, will receive five working days' vacation after one year continuous service; ten days after two years continuous service; and 15 days after three years continuous service, all with pay.

No accumulation of vacation from one year to the next will be allowed and in determining time of vacations, seniority will be given preference.

Each department will be required to adopt a uniform system for computing vacation privileges based on the city's fiscal year. In computing the vacation period from the anniversary date of employment to the end of the fiscal year, the basis for computation will be five-sixths days a month or fraction thereof.

No employe will be allowed to take less than five working days' vacation not more than ten days at any one time unless by special order of the Mayor and Council or appointing authority with the exception of any periods of earned vacation of less than one week.

In event of death, resignation, furlough or discharge, an employe or his or her dependents, will be entitled to compensation for that portion of vacation earned in the previous year and not used.

In connection with the ordinance, council approved a charter amendment resolution yesterday which repeals and reenacts certain sections under the subtitle "Civil Service——Police and Fire."

Under the proposed change, a member of the police force would be granted a leave of absence with pay not less than two days each week to be designated by the chief of police and allowed a leave of absence with pay on account of sickness not to exceed 15 working days in one year. Any member of the police force would be allowed to accumulate unused sick leave from year to year up to 60 days and can use the same for sick leave at any time.

Any officer or member of the Police Department injured or disabled in the performance of duty, would receive full compensation for one year if unable to perform his duties and in addition be entitled to all medical, hospital and surgical expenses resulting from the injury or injuries.

Under the city's home rule bill, copies of the resolution must be posted 40 days, or until December 20. If no petition for a referendum on the change is filed within that time, the resolution will automatically become effective on December 30, the same day as the vacation ordinance.

Agriculturist Makes Tour Of County Farms

Kenneth Felton, an agricultural engineer of the University of Maryland, visited a number of farms in the county yesterday with Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

The two went to the Shumaker Brothers dairy farm in Potomac Valley and also to the William Loar dairy farm where plans for building milking parlors will be discussed. Latest designs and other factors in farm buildings will be outlined by Felton to the two dairymen.

A meeting was held last night by the Woman's Garden Club with Carl Johnson, landscape specialist at the University of Maryland, as the speaker.

Today Johnson will inspect the grounds at the Cumberland Free Public Library to determine what landscaping could be done. He will also visit a number of county residences with Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent.

The various Homemaker clubs of the county have landscaping as their project this year, according to Miss Wise.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Signs Of Social Success

You may be a student, a career girl or a homemaker, but if you are a successful person socially—one who gets on well with both men and women—there are certain things that you know, have done, can do or are doing. That conclusion was reached after analysis of a test given to a group of especially popular women. Want to see how you stack up against them? Answer the following questions with a "yes" or a "no" and compare your rating with the group results given below.

1. If an advantageous invitation came your way right now for a formal affair, would you have to borrow or buy an evening dress?
2. Are you more than five pounds underweight or overweight?
3. Do you express yourself without leaning on such adjectives as "cute," "swell," "terrific" or "awful"?
4. Can you honestly say you have made two new friends in the last six months?
5. Is a newspaper's financial page a mystery to you?
6. Is driving a car easy for you?
7. Can you make any man you are with feel important?
8. Can you row a boat — or fix an electric cord?
9. Do you know the difference between a Bear, a Senator and Illini in the sports field?
10. Is cooking beyond your present abilities?
11. Do you prefer three cheaper outfits to one good one?
12. Is a new hair-do once a year enough for you?
13. Can you find pleasure in an art exhibit, a symphony or a lecture?
14. Do you have a real plan for what you want to do 10 years from now?
15. Do you use your leisure time?
16. Has a man complimented you in the past month?
17. Can you play table tennis, canasta, bridge or golf?
18. Do you read two books and a magazine of real merit each month?

The most popular girls all answered "yes" to all but questions 2, 5, 10 and 11. If your life is less enchanting than you wish it might be, perhaps your answers indicate how a change might increase others' interest in you!

Columbia St. School Opens New Cafeteria

Another Allegany County school has been furnished with a kitchen for its hot lunch program.

Yesterday, the first meals were served from the recently completed kitchen facilities at Columbia Street School.

Until yesterday, foods were transported daily in large thermal containers from the Fort Hill High School cafeteria and served at Columbia Street.

Last spring the contract to construct the addition to the school was let by the Board of Education to the John I. Vandegrift Company.

There are two sections to the kitchen, one for food preparation and the other for dish washing.

Equipment installed includes stoves and ovens, potato peeler, mixer, refrigerator, freezer, and dish washer.

The project is complete except for the installation of a roll-type window that can separate the serving area from the cafeteria which is also used as an auditorium.

This makes 32 schools in Allegany County to have fully-equipped kitchens where the noon meals are prepared to furnish half of the child's daily nutritional demands.

APPEAL TURNED DOWN

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)— An appeal by former real estate broker Charles G. Rhodes, 43, from a 2-to-12 year sentence for forgery was turned down Thursday by Cabell County Circuit Judge John W. Hereford. The appeal was based on alleged technical errors in the Common Pleas Court where Rhodes was sentenced after he pleaded guilty to forgery of a note on which he obtained a $19,852 loan on an apartment building owned by one of his clients.

City Adopts New Policy On Vacations

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved an ordinance to take effect December 30 which will drastically affect vacation periods for new employes hired on or after that date.

Present employes, including classified and police and firemen, or those hired before the effective date of the ordinance, will be entitled to 15 days' vacation after one year service, as is presently provided.

The ordinance approved yesterday will then put the following regulations into effect:

Employes, whether hourly or rated, will receive five working days' vacation after one year continuous service; ten days after two years continuous service; and 15 days after three years continuous service, all with pay.

No accumulation of vacation from one year to the next will be allowed and in determining time of vacations, seniority will be given preference.

In event of death, resignation, furlough or discharge, an employe or his or her dependents, will be entitled to compensation for that portion of vacation earned in the previous year and not used.

In connection with the ordinance, council approved a charter amendment resolution yesterday which repeals and reenacts certain sections under the subtitle "Civil Service——Police and Fire."

Under the proposed change, a member of the police force would be granted a leave of absence with pay not less than two days each week to be designated by the chief of police and allowed a leave of absence with pay on account of sickness not to exceed 15 working days in one year. Any member of the police force would be allowed to accumulate unused sick leave from year to year up to 60 days and can use the same for sick leave at any time.

Any officer or member of the Police Department injured or disabled in the performance of duty, would receive full compensation for one year if unable to perform his duties and in addition be entitled to all medical, hospital and surgical expenses resulting from the injury or injuries.

Under the city's home rule bill, copies of the resolution must be posted 40 days, or until December 20. If no petition for a referendum on the change is filed within that time, the resolution will automatically become effective on December 30, the same day as the vacation ordinance.

Educators Will Evaluate County Schools

Meet Wednesday At Accident

OAKLAND — School principals and supervisors will meet in the Accident School library Wednesday, November 12, at 7:30 p.m., in another of a series of sessions to study and evaluate aspects of the Garrett County school program.

Some phases of the studies being made stemmed from the recent two-day visit to schools of the county by Dr. Willard Elsbree of Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the main theme for the in-service training of all teachers this year centers around discovering and caring for the individual differences of children. He said many educators feel that this need is pre-requisite to improvement in quality of instruction in any area and is a concern of first importance for every teacher.

Assignments in seven groups are to be studied:

(1) To study needs and make recommendations for county-wide testing program; Mrs. Thelma Hanlin, chairman; Ralph Beachley, Lester Bolyard and Edwin Elias.

(2) To study problems relative to grouping of children and make recommendation for what seem to be the best practices, also research on trends; Kenneth Johns, chairman; Mrs. Phyllis Williams, A. B. Dean and F. D. Bittle.

(3) To study library facilities and recommendations for improvement; Robert Rodeheaver, chairman; Mrs. Lenora Buckel, Carl Everly and Mrs. Caroline Wilson.

(4) To study need for special education program for mentally inferior children under 60 IQ; Harold Garrett, chairman; Paul Eary and Foster Riggs.

(5) An out of county visitation program for principals; Merle Frantz, chairman, and Ralph Buckel.

(6) Program for principals and supervisors relative to implementation of the action phase of in-service program dealing with the theme, "Caring for the Individual Differences of Children;" Paul Muha, chairman; Francis E. Harris and Mrs. Esther Yoder.

(7) Tying the in-service program in with Dr. Elsbree's question, "Is the Expectancy Level of Teachers High Enough;" Mrs. Charlotte Barnard, chairman; Harold Phillips, Leburn Myers and Mrs. Bonnie Calhoun.

Oakland Junior Civic Club To Aid Yule Fund

OAKLAND — The Junior Civic Club met at Fellowship Hall, St. Paul's Methodist Church November 6, with a dinner meeting. Husbands were guests.

The president, Mrs. James McHenry announced during the business session, that the club had decided to give $100 to the Christmas clothing fund. This project was started by employes of the Board of Education a few years ago, and has grown, until quite a number of deserving children are completely outfitted with new clothing for Christmas.

To raise this amount of money, the club is selling Christmas candles by ringing door bells.

Wesley Schiable, cashier of Garrett National Bank and Frank McDaniels assistant cashier of the First National Bank, were the speakers of the evening. They spoke on public affairs, including, "Management of Money" and "How Banks Could Help in Communities."

Diame Fike, Connie Kay Dixon and, Stanya Snyder entertained with dances in Modern Jazz, and tap numbers.

A panel, "I've Got a Secret," was part of the entertainment with Mrs. Irvin Feld as the moderator. Those on the panel included Guy William Hinebaugh, James McHenry, and James Helbig. The secrets were Mrs. Gene Taylor, Mrs. Dick Peganhart, and Mrs. Kenneth Lawton.

Radcliffe Sends Flag For Grave Of Capt. Cresap

OLDTOWN — George L. Radcliffe of Baltimore, former US Senator, president of the Maryland Historical Society, has donated a flag to be placed on the grave of Capt. Michael Cresap here today.

Capt. Cresap was a son of Col. Thomas Cresap, early settler here.

Senator Radcliffe delivered the principal address here on November 11, 1949, when the Cresap monument was dedicated.

In past years, numerous dignitaries have provided a flag for the grave of Capt. Cresap on Veterans Day and on Memorial Day. The list included the late Gov. Albert C Ritchie and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The flag has been sent to Ross Shaw who will have it placed on the grave today.

Professorial Politicians

If the one-time prejudice against candidates with college backgrounds still exists, these new senators haven't found it a handicap. Elected to the US Senate last week were from left to right, Jennings Randolph from West Virginia, a Democrat who has been on the faculties of Davis and Elkins College and Southeastern University; Democrat Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, a former professor at St. Thomas College in St. Paul; and Gale McGee, Democrat of Wyoming, currently teaching history at State University. Paw Paw Area To Get Better Mail Service

PAW PAW — Beginning next Saturday a Star Route will be inaugurated from Paw Paw to Baltimore. Mail will leave by truck at 5 p.m. for Baltimore, and return via Cumberland the next morning at 7, having served Oldtown and Spring Gap on the way.

The postal service from Martinsburg will remain the same, arriving at 7:30 a.m., and leaving at 5 p.m.

Because of numerous complaints registered against postal delivery here, officials in Washington came here to make a study of the reason for some of the delays which had occurred. One of the longest delays was noted when a package to Cresaptown took ten days for delivery. Then, too, a package from Cumberland, postmarked one Tuesday, was delivered just one week later — seven days to travel 25 miles.

With this new set-up there will be a 100 per cent improvement in the service here. No more will Cumberland papers be delivered via Hancock and Berkeley Springs.

The driver of the Martinsburg truck will continue to remain here all day and take care of mail delivery to trains. The driver of the Baltimore truck will use his time here for sleeping, since he will be on the road all night.

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Dies

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (UPI) — State Supreme Court Justice John C. Arnold, 71, died at his home here late Sunday afternoon following an illness of several weeks.

His death was attributed to complications following a fall in which he suffered a broken hip.

Justice Arnold was a patient in Clearfield Hospital for four weeks after the accident and had been confined to his home since Oct. 25. Death came at 5 p. m.

Currently in his sixth year of a 21-year term on the state's highest tribunal, Justice Arnold also had spent nearly eight years on the Pennsylvania Superior Court bench. He was appointed to that post in 1945 by then-Gov. Edward Martin and a year later was elected to a full term.

In 1952, he was elected to the state Supreme Court and took office in 1953.

He also served two terms as Clearfield County district attorney and was past president of both the county and state bar associations.

A graduate of DuBois public schools and the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1909, Justice Arnold held an honorary doctor of laws degree which was conferred by Dickinson College in 1953.

He once drew praise from his fellow justice Allen M. Sterne who said "John gave us the strength we needed on the Supreme Court."

Arnold was born in Curwensville, Pa., on March 10, 1887. More recently, he lived here and was active in church and civic work.

Justice Arnold is survived by his widow, the former Clare E. Platt, three children and nine grand-children.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 11 a. m. in Trinity Methodist Church here with interrment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Labor Dispute Closes Bakery In Tri-Towns

WESTERNPORT—A dispute at the McIntyre Bakery in Westernport resulted in the plant being shut down yesterday, according to company officials.

A company official said a hearing had been scheduled for November 17 by the National Labor Relations Board to determine the bargaining agent for the employes of the bakery.

Unions which are seeking the right to represent the workers are Local 453, Teamsters, District 50, United Mine Workers, and the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union.

The plant workers and driver-salesmen have been working without a contract for more than six months, according to company officials. The contract which had been in force covering the driver-salesmen was with the Teamsters Union and it was cancelled by the company last January, according to the firm.

The contract with the plant workers was held by the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union and was cancelled last May, it was stated by the company.

The dispute broke out last week and for several days the workers paid no attention to pickets but today the men refused to cross the lines, according to company officials. They said they decided to shutdown the plant today.

There are 26 plant workers and 36 driver-salesmen employed by the Westernport bakery.

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Dies

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (UPI) — State Supreme Court Justice John C. Arnold, 71, died at his home here late Sunday afternoon following an illness of several weeks.

His death was attributed to complications following a fall in which he suffered a broken hip.

Justice Arnold was a patient in Clearfield Hospital for four weeks after the accident and had been confined to his home since Oct. 25. Death came at 5 p. m.

Currently in his sixth year of a 21-year term on the state's highest tribunal, Justice Arnold also had spent nearly eight years on the Pennsylvania Superior Court bench. He was appointed to that post in 1945 by then-Gov. Edward Martin and a year later was elected to a full term.

In 1952, he was elected to the state Supreme Court and took office in 1953.

He also served two terms as Clearfield County district attorney and was past president of both the county and state bar associations.

A graduate of DuBois public schools and the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1909, Justice Arnold held an honorary doctor of laws degree which was conferred by Dickinson College in 1953.

He once drew praise from his fellow justice Allen M. Sterne who said "John gave us the strength we needed on the Supreme Court."

Arnold was born in Curwensville, Pa., on March 10, 1887. More recently, he lived here and was active in church and civic work.

Justice Arnold is survived by his widow, the former Clare E. Platt, three children and nine grand-children.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 11 a. m. in Trinity Methodist Church here with interrment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Labor Dispute Closes Bakery In Tri-Towns

WESTERNPORT—A dispute at the McIntyre Bakery in Westernport resulted in the plant being shut down yesterday, according to company officials.

A company official said a hearing had been scheduled for November 17 by the National Labor Relations Board to determine the bargaining agent for the employes of the bakery.

Unions which are seeking the right to represent the workers are Local 453, Teamsters, District 50, United Mine Workers, and the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union.

The plant workers and driver-salesmen have been working without a contract for more than six months, according to company officials. The contract which had been in force covering the driver-salesmen was with the Teamsters Union and it was cancelled by the company last January, according to the firm.

The contract with the plant workers was held by the Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union and was cancelled last May, it was stated by the company.

The dispute broke out last week and for several days the workers paid no attention to pickets but today the men refused to cross the lines, according to company officials. They said they decided to shutdown the plant today.

There are 26 plant workers and 36 driver-salesmen employed by the Westernport bakery.

New Regulations Placed On City Dump

New regulations governing the use of the city's dump on Oldtown Road go into effect Saturday and non-residents of the city who use its facilities will share in the cost of its operation after that date.

An ordinance providing for hours of operation, fees and other regulations was approved unanimously by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Most of the impact falls on approximately 2,500 non-resident families who have heretofore had free use of dump facilities.

A commercial hauler for non-residents will be required to pay $10 a year per customer. In cases where the amount of garbage or material placed on the dump is considered excessive, the city has the right to raise the non-resident fee for any person, firm or corporation.

Residents who wish to use the dump on an intermittent basis can do so free of charge after identifying themselves to the dump operator.

Residents who use the dump regularly can obtain a permit from the city engineer's office for $1 a year.

Where a commercial hauler is used by local residents to take refuse to the dump, he will pay a $1 fee a year which will cover all resident customers.

The dump will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday; and from 9 a. m to noon Saturday. It will be closed Sunday and may be closed at any time upon order of the commissioner of streets and public property.

Unauthorized persons will be banned from the dump area and fines are provided for violation of terms of the ordinance. A person, firm or corporation found in violation of the regulations and convicted is liable to a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 and in default of these fines, can be committed to city or county pail for not less than one day nor more than 30 days.

Salvage rights at the dump are held by Feldstein Iron and Metal Works which will pay $205 a month.

George Boch, a commercial hauler who said he also represented three others, appeared to protest the ordinance. He said he did not feel the fees to be charged fair.

In a statement, Long said: The ordinance is felt to be in the best interests of the residents of Cumberland and the Mayor and Council had many meetings with various individuals with all expressing the belief the city should make a charge for the dump use.

"The dump area is limited and it will not be many more years before the city will have to purchase land in order to relocate the dump, which will certainly cost many thousands of dollars; or it will be forced to build its own incinerator the cost of which is estimated to exceed $100,000."

Long said the city spends approximately $72,000 for garbage collection and dump operation and it is felt the 2,500 non-resident families using the facilities "must of necessity" pay a charge.

"The ordinance as well as rules and regulations made in its connection must be strictly enforced," Long said.

QUAKE SHAKES TOKYO

TOKYO (UPI) — A light earthquake shook the Tokyo and Yokohama areas Monday but no damage was reported. Japanese officials said the tremor, felt over a wide area of the Kanin Plain, had its center about 43 miles underground in Chiba prefecture southwest of Tokyo.

A single quart of sea water may contain as many as 100 thousand plankton, miscroscopic ocean organisms on which fish feed.

There is no authentic record of the origin of the office of poet laureate of England.

I am sincerely grateful for the splendid vote of confidence I received from so many thousands of citizens in my candidacy for Sheriff. I want to thank each individual who voted for me and worked in my behalf.

New Regulations Placed On City Dump

New regulations governing the use of the city's dump on Oldtown Road go into effect Saturday and non-residents of the city who use its facilities will share in the cost of its operation after that date.

An ordinance providing for hours of operation, fees and other regulations was approved unanimously by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Most of the impact falls on approximately 2,500 non-resident families who have heretofore had free use of dump facilities.

A commercial hauler for non-residents will be required to pay $10 a year per customer. In cases where the amount of garbage or material placed on the dump is considered excessive, the city has the right to raise the non-resident fee for any person, firm or corporation.

Residents who wish to use the dump on an intermittent basis can do so free of charge after identifying themselves to the dump operator.

Residents who use the dump regularly can obtain a permit from the city engineer's office for $1 a year.

Where a commercial hauler is used by local residents to take refuse to the dump, he will pay a $1 fee a year which will cover all resident customers.

The dump will be open from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday; and from 9 a. m. to noon Saturday. It will be closed Sunday and may be closed at any time upon order of the commissioner of streets and public property.

Unauthorized persons will be banned from the dump area and fines are provided for violation of terms of the ordinance. A person, firm or corporation found in violation of the regulations and convicted is liable to a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 and in default of these fines, can be committed to city or county pail for not less than one day nor more than 30 days.

Salvage rights at the dump are held by Feldstein Iron and Metal Works which will pay $205 a month.

George Boch, a commercial hauler who said he also represented three others, appeared to protest the ordinance. He said he did not feel the fees to be charged fair.

In a statement, Long said: The ordinance is felt to be in the best interests of the residents of Cumberland and the Mayor and Council had many meetings with various individuals with all expressing the belief the city should make a charge for the dump use.

"The dump area is limited and it will not be many more years before the city will have to purchase land in order to relocate the dump, which will certainly cost many thousands of dollars; or it will be forced to build its own incinerator the cost of which is estimated to exceed $100,000."

Long said the city spends approximately $72,000 for garbage collection and dump operation and it is felt the 2,500 non-resident families using the facilities "must of necessity" pay a charge.

"The ordinance as well as rules and regulations made in its connection must be strictly enforced," Long said.

QUAKE SHAKES TOKYO

TOKYO (UPI) — A light earthquake shook the Tokyo and Yokohama areas Monday but no damage was reported. Japanese officials said the tremor, felt over a wide area of the Kanin Plain, had its center about 43 miles underground in Chiba prefecture southwest of Tokyo.

A single quart of sea water may contain as many as 100 thousand plankton, miscroscopic ocean organisms on which fish feed.

A Question Of Medical Ethics

Statement of a Montreal doctor that an airplane pilot had confided to him, while under treatment, the cause of a crash in which he had been involved, and that the flier had resumed pilot duties despite the doctor's advice and had eventually died with all his passengers in a subsequent crash, is startling.

The Canadian Department of Transport has announced that the doctor's statement, which was made at a medical convention in Chicago, will be investigated.

Dr. Bernard Raginsky, the physician in the case, told the convention that the pilot had confessed that he sometimes had difficulty in understanding the implications of his flight instruments, but that he hadn't wanted to admit it to his colleagues or employers. He had also shown an unconscious fear of heights.

Dr. Raginsky said that in view of the fact that the pilot had already been involved in an accident, in which fortunately no passengers had been killed, he advised him strongly to give up flying. The patient, however, had not heeded the advice, and several months later, said the doctor, had been pilot of an aircraft which had crashed with a large loss of life.

As the Canadian Department of Transport has intimated, it is unfortunate that Dr. Raginsky did not notify the proper authorities at the time of the interview with the pilot. Many lives could have been saved had he done so.

The answer to that, of course, is that any physician is debarred from doing so by the ethics of his profession, which demand that the confidences of a patient cannot be revealed. By his professional oath the doctor is sworn to silence. In cases such as this the silence is a fatal one.

Perhaps the time has come when the medical profession should modify its conduct in such cases. There must be times when a doctor's duty to his patient is outweighed by his duty to the public, and this case would appear to be one of them.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Without Meaning

In most parts of the United States, the recent election was without idealogical position. Except in California and perhaps Arizona and Ohio, most candidates discussed no issues, avoiding them as dangerous and preferring to fill the air with a plethora of verbiage. In New York State, where the campaign had national overtones, the candidates ran a contest between eating goulash with their fingers and eating hot dogs off a street corner push-cart. Maybe the photographers will swear that they actually saw the candidates eat the stuff!

What Governors talked about did not matter so much, it being a sort of wrist-slapping election. What candidates for the Senate or the House of Representatives said could have been very significant, but most of them spoke about the weather and the glories of this and that, avoiding such subjects as inflation, the foreign policy, the peril of the dollar and the danger of war. By avoiding such subjects, the candidates also avoided putting their feet in their mouths. It was as grand a display of nothingness as had ever been seen.

While these fellows were traveling about spouting words, the Quemoy shootings occurred and on that subject most politicians feared to talk because it could lose them a vote or two either way. Walter Lippmann permitted himself this:

"As for the United States having to prove its courage, or to lose all its friends, I would say that what we do about Quemoy is a test of courage of the United States only if we announce to the world that we regard it as a test of our courage. The world knows that we have fought three big wars in the past fifty years and the world, friendly, hostile and neutral, will have no doubt about the courage of this country."

No politician would say anything of the sort, because it would be like sticking a finger into the enemy's mouth. The world does not remember that we courageously fought three wars. A generation is growing up in Russia and in Red China which never heard that the United States played any important role in World War II. This same generation does not know that we gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 for free, out of the generosity of our hearts. That generation only knows that Negroes cannot go to school in Little Rock and that Paul Robeson cannot sing at the Metropolitan Opera.

Unfortunately for Mr. Lippmann, the world is not as erudite as he is and does not remember yesterday's news. Politicians in every country want to know, what did you do for me today? Yesterday's generosity was to meet yesterday's problems. Today is a new day.

So the candidates could not go along with Lippmann because there are no votes in that. Republican and Democrat, they avoided the entire subject. They left it to John Foster Dulles and hoped nothing serious would come of it. They, who are the people's representatives, according to the Constitution, became the people's tasters of pizza pies and Irish coffee to say nothing of gefuelte fish and sauerbraten. You may say that why is this different from kissing babies or attending wakes and bar mitzvas or laying cornerstones?

Truly, it is not different. It is all of a piece of nonsense which is unrelated to the subject of whether a candidate is worthy of election or not. A citizen observing the conduct of some candidates, could easily have thought that it might be best not to vote at all. Is a night club exhibitionist any worse than some candidates who suddenly become "democratic" for a month before Election Day and then develop into stuffed shirts if elected by the people?

The Republican process is a theory of popular choice. The people set up their own government by electing chosen representatives. Those who present themselves to be chosen usually conform to a type desired by the people of a particular generation in a particular area.

If the kind of campaign which was conducted this year is what the people want, then something is lacking in our education and upbringing. We do not demand enough of our candidates. They are actors not debaters. They project personalities not issues. They raise their hands like prize-fighters acknowledging the public applause, but they give no evidence of humility or of any doubt as to the perfection of themselves.

The Lame Duck Might Have Quite A Kick

Losing Elections By Ideological Gymnastics

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The scene, last June, was a big conference room in Cincinnati. The actors were Ohio's hardy perennial Republican Senator, John W. Bricker, Ohio's veteran Republican State Chairman, Ray Bliss, and a large group of leading Ohio industrialists.

The powerful Charles Hook, of the American Rolling Mills Co., had called the meeting to discuss the desirability of putting a so-called right-to-work law on the Ohio ballot this year. The Timken Roller Bearing Co. and other Ohio businesses of comparable standing were also represented. Bricker and Bliss are two of the most solidly conservative, most sincerely business-minded Republican politicians in any state in the Union, so everyone ought to have loved everyone else.

In fact, however, the two Republican professional politicians were "treated like dogs," as one of them has subsequently recalled with considerable bitterness.

Even after the meeting, the Republican Governor of Ohio, C. William O'Neill, had been pressured into staying at home. ("If any damn chairman of any damn board calls Bill on the telephone, he just melts," was the explanation given by a colleague.) Even after this desertion, however, Sen. Bricker and State Chairman Bliss insisted on appearing before the assembled industrialists, to tell them plainly that putting the right-to-work law on the ballot was a suicidal act.

The businessmen's reply was so angrily abusive that Sen. Bricker drew his dignity around him, and took his leave without further ado. Ray Bliss, who is made of sterner stuff, stood his ground long enough to warn the right-to-work enthusiasts that the Republican Party could "lose everything" in Ohio if they persisted in their scheme. He was loftily assured that he was quite mistaken; that the Ohio Republicans would win their greatest victory under the right-to-work banner. After that, Bliss also departed.

By no means all the Ohio industrialists disagreed with Bliss in this manner. The formidable George Magoffin Humphrey sympathized with his old friend, for instance; and many of the leaders of steel and rubber companies took the same position. But despite the split in the business community, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers Association persisted, and at considerable expense right-to-work went on the ballot by petition.

Even so, all was not lost, until some of the board chairmen who have the knack of melting Gov. O'Neill, got the wretched man on the telephone. As a weak and unpopular Governor, poor O'Neill was the only Republican candidate who was then in any danger of defeat. Therefore he melted rather more easily than usual, obediently announcing that he was for the right-to-work law, and that right-to-work was the campaign's big issue.

O'Neill's action in turn entangled Sen. Bricker, who did not want a repeat of the California situation. Along with Bricker, the whole Republican state ticket was involved.

In the outcome, Bricker was roundly beaten by Stephen Young, an amiable, old nonentity whom the Democrats had nominated simply because he was in the habit of running for office whenever possible. O'Neill took a fearful licking. Of the other candidates for state office, only a single Republican survived. Both Houses of the state legislature were captured by the Democrats. Three Republican Congress seats were lost. And the right-to-work law itself was defeated by the staggering margin of nearly a million votes.

This fearful hecatomb, as Ray Bliss bitterly pointed out in a public statement, was a direct result of the intervention of the right-to-work enthusiasts. Without right-to-work, the Ohio Republicans were due to come through with flying colors, except that the brisk Mike DiSalle would probably have defeated the feeble O'Neill anyway. But because of the right-to-work, the Ohio Republican party, the businessman's party, is just about back to where it was in the worst years of Franklin Roosevelt.

The story does not end in Ohio, either. Right-to-work laws were on the ballot in five other states besides Ohio. They were beaten in four of these five states. Their presence on the ballot in all cases gravely damaged the Republican candidates. Even in Kansas, where right-to-work was approved, the issue contributed labor votes to the victorious Democrat, Gov. George Docking. Even in Indiana, where right-to-work had already been placed on the statute books, the bitterness thereby engendered helped to defeat Republican Gov. Harold Handley in his Senate race.

Altogether, the warning is clear that meaningless ideological gymnastics should be carefully avoided by those who hope to win elections.

You're Telling Me!

The Swiss government has asked parliament for an appropriation of $66,220,000 for military equipment and installations. Whatever became of those mountains that were supposed to be that nation's best defense?

More than $66 million! Now, don't tell us Switzerland is finally getting around to building that useless navy?

The prize check was made out in the winning pig's name, not that of its owner, at a Georgia fair. Hogging the cash as well as the glory?

Scotland Yard is being needled these days and not by Sherlock Holmes, either. Seems a petty thief snuck into that citadel of sleuthdom and swiped $1.12 from a detective's desk.

Democratic Landslide Proves People Resent 'Operation Soothing Syrup'

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's nephew, Mike Gill, popped into the White House election night and found the President watching a western movie.

"My God, Uncle Ike!" blurted Mike. "Aren't you watching the election returns?"

"I've lived with a Democratic Congress for four years," mumbled the President. "I can live with them for two more."

Except for flashes of interest, Ike displayed the same apathy the following night when Vice President Nixon dropped over to hold a political post-mortem. Ike's attitude was that of an elder statesman who is through with politics and is relieved to be out of it.

Nixon claimed the election results proved that the Republicans need fresh faces — young, attractive, aggressive candidates. He cited his own potential presidential rival, Nelson Rockefeller, as an example. Nixon added slyly that he had sent Rockefeller a warm telegram congratulating him on his New York victory.

Nixon also discussed the discouraging GOP defeats in the farm states. Without saying so outright, he made it clear that he considers Secretary of Agriculture Benson a political liability.

The President's attitude made equally clear that he has turned the political reins over to Nixon.

Why The Landslide?

During six weeks of the recent election campaign, this writer covered a cross-section of the country, from coast to coast. It was not difficult to predict how the political tide was running. Here are the main factors, which Ike apparently does not know about, which are making it run that way:

THE RECESSION — Would have been forgiven if there hadn't been so much talk, first, that there was no recession, second, that it would be over in March. Ike knew that it wouldn't be over in March because his experts reported it would not be over until October. The public knew what the experts said because the public reads the papers. The public just doesn't like to be fooled.

DANGER OF WAR — The crisis over Quemoy could have been forgiven if there hadn't been so much talk about unleashing Chiang Kai-shek and so much criticism of the Democrats for war in Korea. People remembered Ike's "I will go to Korea" statement during the 1952 campaign and wondered why he didn't do something drastic in 1958 to stop danger of war three miles off the Chinese mainland.

GOLDFINE AND ADAMS—The Goldfine case would have caused much less attention if Eisenhower hadn't harped so continuously on Democratic mink coats, hams, and deep freezes. The public remembered his very effective 1952 campaign, slogan, "Korea, Corruption, and Communism." And the public didn't see much difference between a mink and a vicuna coat, a deep freeze and a $2,000 rug.

SPUTNIK — When October 4, 1958, passed with the United States still not launching a satellite anywhere comparable to Russia's, people began to doubt the military infallibility of the President. Prior to October 4, 1957, they had considered all military matters safe in his hands. He was the expert. But the Russian sputnik shook that faith; and the series of political moves better known as "Operation Soothing Syrup" actually did not soothe nearly as much as the White House thought.

GOLF — The American public likes to picture its President working hard, concentrating on affairs of state. People get tired of seeing him play golf or go on three-day bridge-playing bouts when vital problems are pressing, and when a school board from Tennessee with its school bombed because it tried to obey the law is refused an interview with the President. Golf and bridge hurt Ike in this campaign far more than he realized.

RADIOACTIVE FALLOUT — When Ike belittled Adlai Stevenson during the 1956 campaign for wanting to ban H-bomb tests because of strontium 90 and radioactive fallout, it hurt Stevenson. But when the President reversed himself and adopted the Stevenson proposal of banning H-bomb tests, then it hurt Ike. The public can understand mistakes, and it can understand politics. But it likes to see people in high places occasionally admit that they make mistakes and give credit to those they previously discredited. No apology was made to Adlai for belittling him on a point where he was right.

It takes time for people to catch up with these things. But when they do catch up they can be irate and outraged. No red-blooded American likes to be made a fool, and many of those who trooped to the polls to vote the biggest Democratic landslide since 1936 figured they were going to prove Abe Lincoln right—namely, that you can't fool all the people all of the time.

Ike's Unemployment Figures

It was President Eisenhower who personally ordered the Commerce Department to announce the October unemployment figures before the election.

In order to rush out the figures, the Census Bureau had to pull employes off other jobs.

The figures showed a drop of 300,000 in unemployment. What Ike did not mention in his final pre-election speech was that the number of jobless normally decreases about 200,000 to 300,000 in October.

The President also failed to point out that unemployment is still one million or more higher than unemployment one year ago.

The International

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK—Horsemen expecting Russia's representatives in the $100,000 Washington, D. C. International to be a couple of shaggy brutes with a hammer and sickle branded on their rumps got a pleasing shock when Garnir and Zaryad arrived at Laurel.

People down Laurel way have been eyeing horseflesh ever since G. Wafington (correct) was around that way with his horses, followed some years later by another president, A. Jackson, who kept his racers in the White House barn. They swear the Russian entry in today's $100,000 race strongly resemble capitalistic thoroughbreds, such as Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem (Willie Shoemaker) and John McShain's great Irish-bred Ballymoss.

The Russian hay burners have four legs, nice coats, prickly ears and use jockeys. Zaryad will carry 122 pounds, most of it in the person of Viktor Kovalev. Garnir, another three-year old in at the same favorable weight, will be steered by Nikolai Nasimov. Neither can speak English very well, which should make them feel at home in the jocks' room. Eddie Arcaro, who is up on Ireland's Tharp, will serve as their interpreter if they have anything to ask of Ismael Valenzuela, who is riding Argentina's Revoque, or Manuel Camacaro, who is astride Venezuela's Escribano.

The Russians can run a little, too, the Marylanders who have seen them in workouts will attest. Sam Perlman's Morning Telegraph and Racing Form is said to be having a little trouble getting their past performance lists and last works in the Soviet Union, but it's a cinch that if they were not good horses the Reds would not have permitted them to leave the U.S.S.R. You'll remember how the Russkies laid off the Olympic Games until they produced a team that could win. You'll recall, too, that last summer they sent a team of kids to England to play tennis—so you'll soon be hearing that Russia is challenging for the Davis Cup. They don't do things halfway, where "face" is involved.

The Russian horses have been described as the best-groomed of the 10 in training for today's mile and a half over the grass. Their white bridles with red headbands and the peacock blue of their riders' silks make a pretty picture. Garnir, winner of the Russian Derby, and Zaryad, who took the place, date back to British sires and mares—but they have long since lost their accent. And they'd better not have a relapse and start whinnying in cockney. Soviet Ambassador Menshikov will be in the stands, ears cupped.

Garnir is the less flashy of the two, but in workouts has displayed a stride and drive indicative of the distance horse. The experts feel that he, rather than the better known Zaryad, will be in there at the end — pounding away at Clem and Ballymoss, who'll probably share the favored spots.

This is by all odds the best of the Internationals. Clem is the finest American - bred that has come up for this young but already treasured turf event. Ballymoss, trained by the great Vincent O'Brien, is one of the most remarkable animals of recent times.

McShain, the Philadelphia contractor and hotel owner, got into racing by complete accident. His favorite headwaiter, a stable owner, was about to quit the hotel business to give his entire time to racing. John persuaded him to stay in the catering business by buying the man's stable. Then he began picking up a little string of Irish horses and, lo and behold, came up with Ballymoss. Ballymoss takes a Gold Cup out of England practically every time he runs. The betting on him has been so heavy in British handbooks (sent in from France and Ireland, too) that bets are now being accepted only at track odds.

Orsini, Germany's leading money winner, has a chance, too. Any horse privileged to carry the burden of Arcaro has a chance, of course.

The trainer of the Russian horses, Yevgeni Gottlieb, works for the Ministry of Agriculture, which owns the nags and is in turn owned by the state, of course. He is a most conscientious man. He works his charges twice a day, morning and afternoon, once over the grass and then over the dirt. He has walked the grass course a number of times, examining each blade of grass. It was a struggle to make him move to a Washington hotel. He wanted to sleep with his horses.

First class event, which should break both the track's attendance record (33,615) and money bet mark ($1,982,520.)

New Method For Dissolving Blood Clots Tested

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When blood is placed in a test tube, it coagulates within a few minutes. The clot can be made to disappear by adding a dissolving substance to the mixture. Physicians, for years, have been trying to duplicate this laboratory experiment within the blood vessels. But the substances they employed were too toxic or so strong they injured normal tissues.

The first encouraging report along this line appeared last August in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Dr. Kenneth M. Moser of Washington, D. C., injected the enzyme, plasmin, into the blood stream of 52 patients with clots in various vessels throughout the body.

The results are difficult to evaluate but far from discouraging. In the series, 18 patients had clots in the deep veins of the legs due to thrombophlebitis. The involved extremity was swollen, painful, red, and tender to the touch. Plasmin was injected into the blood stream, and in many the limb decreased in size and became less tender within 24 hours. Swelling did not recur after the individual left the hospital.

The question is, did the enzyme eat away the obstructing clot? This is the $64 question but Dr. Moser believes the treatment was beneficial. In some patients, plasmin was combined with an anticoagulant drug. Here, plasmin digested away the fibrin framework of the clot while the anticoagulant prevented clots from getting larger or redeveloping.

Two physicians from Plainfield, N. J., used plasmin on three persons who were paralyzed as a result of stroke. They took X-rays of the blood vessels of the brain which demonstrated where the clot was obstructing the passageway. X-rays were repeated after the material was injected.

In one, circulation to the brain was restored to normal. In another partial clearing of the occluded vessels occured. There was no change in the third. Time will tell whether we are on the brink of solving an important problem.

CONTACT WITH IRRITANT

W.P. writes: What is the cause of contact dermatitis?

REPLY

In some instances the offending chemicals irritate the skin, whereas in others dermatitis represents local sensitivity to the substance with which the victim comes in contact.

B12 AND GROWTH

S. P. writes: Will shots of vitamin B12 make a fellow of 20 grow tall?

REPLY

This would be unlikely. Vitamin B12 has a questionable affect on growth. There is no harm in taking it but don't be disappointed if you fail to grow.

DISTURBED TASTE

R. Z. writes: Does stroke disturb the sense of taste? Since I had one a year ago my food tastes unbearable.

REPLY

Yes. Symptoms of stroke are variable but don't be discouraged, because your sense of taste may return.

PAIN ON BENDING

M. N. writes: Could ulcer cause pain in the stomach on bending at the waist?

REPLY

No. Ulcer discomfort usually stems from an overabundance of acid in the stomach and is most likely to occur when the stomach is empty. Pain on bending may stem from gas in the bowel or hernia in the diaphragm.

INCUBATION PERIOD

W. D. writes: I was exposed to German measles. How soon will I know if I will get it?

REPLY

If you are susceptible—in 14 to 23 days.

FAT NOT CALCIUM

J. H. writes: Is calcification of the walls of the aorta due to drinking too much milk?

REPLY

No. The cause of hardening of the arteries is not known, although dietary fat is high on the list of suspects at this time. Cholesterol and other giant fatty molecules are derived from this type of food. These substances collect in the walls of the blood vessels to start the arteriosclerotic process.

TOMORROW: Ulcer victims have a lifetime problem.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

A Question Of Medical Ethics

Statement of a Montreal doctor that an airplane pilot had confided to him, while under treatment, the cause of a crash in which he had been involved, and that the flier had resumed pilot duties despite the doctor's advice and had eventually died with all his passengers in a subsequent crash, is startling.

The Canadian Department of Transport has announced that the doctor's statement, which was made at a medical convention in Chicago, will be investigated.

Dr. Bernard Raginsky, the physician in the case, told the convention that the pilot had confessed that he sometimes had difficulty in understanding the implications of his flight instruments, but that he hadn't wanted to admit it to his colleagues or employers. He had also shown an unconscious fear of heights.

Dr. Raginsky said that in view of the fact that the pilot had already been involved in an accident, in which fortunately no passengers had been killed, he advised him strongly to give up flying. The patient, however, had not heeded the advice, and several months later, said the doctor, had been pilot of an aircraft which had crashed with a large loss of life.

As the Canadian Department of Transport has intimated, it is unfortunate that Dr. Raginsky did not notify the proper authorities at the time of the interview with the pilot. Many lives could have been saved had he done so.

The answer to that, of course, is that any physician is debarred from doing so by the ethics of his profession, which demand that the confidences of a patient cannot be revealed. By his professional oath the doctor is sworn to silence. In cases such as this the silence is a fatal one.

Perhaps the time has come when the medical profession should modify its conduct in such cases. There must be times when a doctor's duty to his patient is outweighed by his duty to the public, and this case would appear to be one of them.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Without Meaning

In most parts of the United States, the recent election was without idealogical position. Except in California and perhaps Arizona and Ohio, most candidates discussed no issues, avoiding them as dangerous and preferring to fill the air with a plethora of verbiage. In New York State, where the campaign had national overtones, the candidates ran a contest between eating goulash with their fingers and eating hot dogs off a street corner push-cart. Maybe the photographers will swear that they actually saw the candidates eat the stuff!

What Governors talked about did not matter so much, it being a sort of wrist-slapping election. What candidates for the Senate or the House of Representatives said could have been very significant, but most of them spoke about the weather and the glories of this and that, avoiding such subjects as inflation, the foreign policy, the peril of the dollar and the danger of war. By avoiding such subjects, the candidates also avoided putting their feet in their mouths. It was as grand a display of nothingness as had ever been seen.

While these fellows were traveling about spouting words, the Quemoy shootings occurred and on that subject most politicians feared to talk because it could lose them a vote or two either way. Walter Lippmann permitted himself this:

"As for the United States having to prove its courage, or to lose all its friends, I would say that what we do about Quemoy is a test of courage of the United States only if we announce to the world that we regard it as a test of our courage. The world knows that we have fought three big wars in the past fifty years and the world, friendly, hostile and neutral, will have no doubt about the courage of this country."

No politician would say anything of the sort, because it would be like sticking a finger into the enemy's mouth. The world does not remember that we courageously fought three wars. A generation is growing up in Russia and in Red China which never heard that the United States played any important role in World War II. This same generation does not know that we gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 for free, out of the generosity of our hearts. That generation only knows that Negroes cannot go to school in Little Rock and that Paul Robeson cannot sing at the Metropolitan Opera.

Unfortunately for Mr. Lippmann, the world is not as erudite as he is and does not remember yesterday's news. Politicians in every country want to know, what did you do for me today? Yesterday's generosity was to meet yesterday's problems. Today is a new day.

So the candidates could not go along with Lippmann because there are no votes in that. Republican and Democrat, they avoided the entire subject. They left it to John Foster Dulles and hoped nothing serious would come of it. They, who are the people's representatives, according to the Constitution, became the people's tasters of pizza pies and Irish coffee to say nothing of gefuelte fish and sauerbraten. You may say that why is this different from kissing babies or attending wakes and bar mitzvas or laying cornerstones?

Truly, it is not different. It is all of a piece of nonsense which is unrelated to the subject of whether a candidate is worthy of election or not. A citizen observing the conduct of some candidates, could easily have thought that it might be best not to vote at all. Is a night club exhibitionist any worse than some candidates who suddenly become "democratic" for a month before Election Day and then develop into stuffed shirts if elected by the people?

The Republican process is a theory of popular choice. The people set up their own government by electing chosen representatives. Those who present themselves to be chosen usually conform to a type desired by the people of a particular generation in a particular area.

If the kind of campaign which was conducted this year is what the people want, then something is lacking in our education and upbringing. We do not demand enough of our candidates. They are actors not debaters. They project personalities not issues. They raise their hands like prize-fighters acknowledging the public applause, but they give no evidence of humility or of any doubt as to the perfection of themselves.

The Lame Duck Might Have Quite A Kick

Losing Elections By Ideological Gymnastics

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The scene, last June, was a big conference room in Cincinnati. The actors were Ohio's hardy perennial Republican Senator, John W. Bricker, Ohio's veteran Republican State Chairman, Ray Bliss, and a large group of leading Ohio industrialists.

The powerful Charles Hook, of the American Rolling Mills Co., had called the meeting to discuss the desirability of putting a so-called right-to-work law on the Ohio ballot this year. The Timken Roller Bearing Co. and other Ohio businesses of comparable standing were also represented. Bricker and Bliss are two of the most solidly conservative, most sincerely business-minded Republican politicians in any state in the Union, so everyone ought to have loved everyone else.

In fact, however, the two Republican professional politicians were "treated like dogs," as one of them has subsequently recalled with considerable bitterness.

Even after the meeting, the Republican Governor of Ohio, C. William O'Neill, had been pressured into staying at home. ("If any damn chairman of any damn board calls Bill on the telephone, he just melts," was the explanation given by a colleague.) Even after this desertion, however, Sen. Bricker and State Chairman Bliss insisted on appearing before the assembled industrialists, to tell them plainly that putting the right-to-work law on the ballot was a suicidal act.

The businessmen's reply was so angrily abusive that Sen. Bricker drew his dignity around him, and took his leave without further ado. Ray Bliss, who is made of sterner stuff, stood his ground long enough to warn the right-to-work enthusiasts that the Republican Party could "lose everything" in Ohio if they persisted in their scheme. He was loftily assured that he was quite mistaken; that the Ohio Republicans would win their greatest victory under the right-to-work banner. After that, Bliss also departed.

By no means all the Ohio industrialists disagreed with Bliss in this manner. The formidable George Magoffin Humphrey sympathized with his old friend, for instance; and many of the leaders of steel and rubber companies took the same position. But despite the split in the business community, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers Association persisted, and at considerable expense right-to-work went on the ballot by petition.

Even so, all was not lost, until some of the board chairmen who have the knack of melting Gov. O'Neill, got the wretched man on the telephone. As a weak and unpopular Governor, poor O'Neill was the only Republican candidate who was then in any danger of defeat. Therefore he melted rather more easily than usual, obediently announcing that he was for the right-to-work law, and that right-to-work was the campaign's big issue.

O'Neill's action in turn entangled Sen. Bricker, who did not want a repeat of the California situation. Along with Bricker, the whole Republican state ticket was involved.

In the outcome, Bricker was roundly beaten by Stephen Young, an amiable, old nonentity whom the Democrats had nominated simply because he was in the habit of running for office whenever possible. O'Neill took a fearful licking. Of the other candidates for state office, only a single Republican survived. Both Houses of the state legislature were captured by the Democrats. Three Republican Congress seats were lost. And the right-to-work law itself was defeated by the staggering margin of nearly a million votes.

This fearful hecatomb, as Ray Bliss bitterly pointed out in a public statement, was a direct result of the intervention of the right-to-work enthusiasts. Without right-to-work, the Ohio Republicans were due to come through with flying colors, except that the brisk Mike DiSalle would probably have defeated the feeble O'Neill anyway. But because of the right-to-work, the Ohio Republican party, the businessman's party, is just about back to where it was in the worst years of Franklin Roosevelt.

The story does not end in Ohio, either. Right-to-work laws were on the ballot in five other states besides Ohio. They were beaten in four of these five states. Their presence on the ballot in all cases gravely damaged the Republican candidates. Even in Kansas, where right-to-work was approved, the issue contributed labor votes to the victorious Democrat, Gov. George Docking. Even in Indiana, where right-to-work had already been placed on the statute books, the bitterness thereby engendered helped to defeat Republican Gov. Harold Handley in his Senate race.

Altogether, the warning is clear that meaningless ideological gymnastics should be carefully avoided by those who hope to win elections.

The Russian horses have been described as the best-groomed of the 10 in training for today's mile and a half over the grass. Their white bridles with red headbands and the peacock blue of their riders' silks make a pretty picture. Garnir, winner of the Russian Derby, and Zaryad, who took the place, date back to British sires and mares—but they have long since lost their accent. And they'd better not have a relapse and start whinnying in cockney. Soviet Ambassador Menshikov will be in the stands, ears cupped.

Garnir is the less flashy of the two, but in workouts has displayed a stride and drive indicative of the distance horse. The experts feel that he, rather than the better known Zaryad, will be in there at the end — pounding away at Clem and Ballymoss, who'll probably share the favored spots.

This is by all odds the best of the Internationals. Clem is the finest American - bred that has come up for this young but already treasured turf event. Ballymoss, trained by the great Vincent O'Brien, is one of the most remarkable animals of recent times.

McShain, the Philadelphia contractor and hotel owner, got into racing by complete accident. His favorite headwaiter, a stable owner, was about to quit the hotel business to give his entire time to racing. John persuaded him to stay in the catering business by buying the man's stable. Then he began picking up a little string of Irish horses and, lo and behold, came up with Ballymoss. Ballymoss takes a Gold Cup out of England practically every time he runs. The betting on him has been so heavy in British handbooks (sent in from France and Ireland, too) that bets are now being accepted only at track odds.

Orsini, Germany's leading money winner, has a chance, too. Any horse privileged to carry the burden of Arcaro has a chance, of course.

The trainer of the Russian horses, Yevgeni Gottlieb, works for the Ministry of Agriculture, which owns the nags and is in turn owned by the state, of course. He is a most conscientious man. He works his charges twice a day, morning and afternoon, once over the grass and then over the dirt. He has walked the grass course a number of times, examining each blade of grass. It was a struggle to make him move to a Washington hotel. He wanted to sleep with his horses.

First class event, which should break both the track's attendance record (33,615) and money bet mark ($1,982,520.)

New Method For Dissolving Blood Clots Tested

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When blood is placed in a test tube, it coagulates within a few minutes. The clot can be made to disappear by adding a dissolving substance to the mixture. Physicians, for years, have been trying to duplicate this laboratory experiment within the blood vessels. But the substances they employed were too toxic or so strong they injured normal tissues.

The first encouraging report along this line appeared last August in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Dr. Kenneth M. Moser of Washington, D. C., injected the enzyme, plasmin, into the blood stream of 52 patients with clots in various vessels throughout the body.

The results are difficult to evaluate but far from discouraging. In the series, 18 patients had clots in the deep veins of the legs due to thrombophlebitis. The involved extremity was swollen, painful, red, and tender to the touch. Plasmin was injected into the blood stream, and in many the limb decreased in size and became less tender within 24 hours. Swelling did not recur after the individual left the hospital.

The question is, did the enzyme eat away the obstructing clot? This is the $64 question but Dr. Moser believes the treatment was beneficial. In some patients, plasmin was combined with an anticoagulant drug. Here, plasmin digested away the fibrin framework of the clot while the anticoagulant prevented clots from getting larger or redeveloping.

Two physicians from Plainfield, N. J., used plasmin on three persons who were paralyzed as a result of stroke. They took X-rays of the blood vessels of the brain which demonstrated where the clot was obstructing the passageway. X-rays were repeated after the material was injected.

In one, circulation to the brain was restored to normal. In another partial clearing of the occluded vessels occured. There was no change in the third. Time will tell whether we are on the brink of solving an important problem.

CONTACT WITH IRRITANT

W.P. writes: What is the cause of contact dermatitis?

REPLY

In some instances the offending chemicals irritate the skin, whereas in others dermatitis represents local sensitivity to the substance with which the victim comes in contact.

B12 AND GROWTH

S. P. writes: Will shots of vitamin B12 make a fellow of 20 grow tall?

REPLY

This would be unlikely. Vitamin B12 has a questionable affect on growth. There is no harm in taking it but don't be disappointed if you fail to grow.

DISTURBED TASTE

R. Z. writes: Does stroke disturb the sense of taste? Since I had one a year ago my food tastes unbearable.

REPLY

Yes. Symptoms of stroke are variable but don't be discouraged, because your sense of taste may return.

PAIN ON BENDING

M. N. writes: Could ulcer cause pain in the stomach on bending at the waist?

REPLY

No. Ulcer discomfort usually stems from an overabundance of acid in the stomach and is most likely to occur when the stomach is empty. Pain on bending may stem from gas in the bowel or hernia in the diaphragm.

INCUBATION PERIOD

W. D. writes: I was exposed to German measles. How soon will I know if I will get it?

REPLY

If you are susceptible—in 14 to 23 days.

FAT NOT CALCIUM

J. H. writes: Is calcification of the walls of the aorta due to drinking too much milk?

REPLY

No. The cause of hardening of the arteries is not known, although dietary fat is high on the list of suspects at this time. Cholesterol and other giant fatty molecules are derived from this type of food. These substances collect in the walls of the blood vessels to start the arteriosclerotic process.

TOMORROW: Ulcer victims have a lifetime problem.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The youngsters have enthusiastically adopted Steve Allen's game in which you are supplied an answer, from which you must deduce the question. Examples:

1. Answer: Mt. Whitney, Mt. Olympus and Mt. Sinai. Question: Name two mountains and a hospital.

2. Answer: Cleopatra, Mata Hari and Florence Nightingale. Question: Name three dead women.

3. Answer: Washington Irving. Question: Who was the first president, Sam?

Think you can play now? Let me hear from you!

Add to your list of wonderful town names—if you keep one: Ash, Kan.; Fiven, Tenn.; Odear, Me.; Shoo, Fla.; Carpet, Tex.; Howdy, Miss.; and Kay, O. (Who says there are no such places?)

Grid Experts Agree—Louisiana State Tigers Rated No. 1

Auburn Takes 4th Place In AP Balloting

Wildcats Tumble From Select Ten; TCU In 9th Place

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's going to take a stout crowbar to pry Louisiana State out of first place in the weekly Associated Press college football poll if the Tigers continue to manhandle their opponents as they did Duke last Saturday. It was their third week as No. 1 team.

The sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the voting, impressed by the 50-18 victory over the Iowa Hawkeyes, who clinched the Big Ten title Saturday, again in the No. 2 spot.

Army Holds Third

Army held its No. 3 position despite the fact the wilting Cadets had a bad score, pulling out a victory over Rice with a long pass in the final seconds of their game at Houston.

Auburn displaced Northwestern in the fourth place, as the Big Ten school dropped out of the top 10 as a result of its defeat by Wisconsin.

Northwestern, in fact, was the only one of the top 10 teams of a week ago to fail to make it this week. Oklahoma held its No. 6 spot, Wisconsin moved up from seventh to fifth, Mississippi jumped from ninth to seventh, Purdue held to No. 8, and the Air Force remained No. 10.

T C U Is Newcomer

The newcomer to the select list is Texas Christian, which moved from 11th to 9th.

Louisiana State gathered 95 first place votes in holding its lead with a total of 1,532 points. Iowa got 52 votes for the top spot and accumulated 1,441 points. The only other teams in the top 10 to be backed for No. 1 were Auburn, with six votes; Oklahoma with 3, and Mississippi with 2.

1. Louisiana St.	(95) (8-0)	1,532
2. Iowa	(52) (6-0-1)	1,441

Terps Lineup Is Shaken Up

Breedlove Dropped To The Third Team

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Tommy Mont of Maryland took one look at films of Navy's 40-14 slaughter of the Terps last Saturday, then shook up his starting lineup Monday.

Mont also sent his men through a full-scale scrimmage in full gear for the first time on a Monday this season.

The Navy game was "one of the, if not the, poorest performance (sic) by a Maryland team this year," he said. He also ordered another full-scale workout Tuesday.

Mont hoped the changes at guard, end and halfback would put some pep into the Terps before Friday night's contest in the Orange Bowl against Miami.

Right guard Tom Gunderman was dropped to the second team and sophomore Pete Boinis, third-team guard, moved into Gunderman's spot.

Rodney Breedlove, All-Conference and mentioned for All America last year, dropped all the way to third team and was replaced at left guard by Bill Lazaro.

Recorders Tie Guards For K. of C. Loop Lead

The Recorders swept three games from the Guards last night on the Club Recreation alleys and tied the latter for first place in the Knights of Columbus Duckpin League.

Ossie Gigliotti of the Guards posted high score of 171-498 for the evening. Other high scorers were John Vocke, Recorders, 192-487; Tom McGeady, Chancellors, 173-468 and Don Palmer, Grand Knights, 174-462. Iowa Drops To 2nd Spot In UPI Poll

Army Retains 3rd Place; Panthers Back In Top Ten

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Louisiana State Tigers, surprise team of the 1958 college football season, today climaxed a steady climb in the United Press International ratings by replacing Iowa in first place.

Louisiana State moved up from 17th during the past five weeks and took the No. 1 spot in the wake of a 50-18 Saturday night triumph over Duke that boosted its record to 8-0. Iowa, the new Big Ten champion, slipped to second.

Pitt In Top Ten

Pittsburgh and Mississippi moved back into the top 10 while Ohio State and Notre Dame dropped out. Ohio State, the 1957 Big Ten champion, has been slipping steadily in the ratings and fell out of the select group for the first time this season.

The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams for UPI gave Louisiana State 20 first-place votes and a total of 324 points. Iowa, the other big vote getter, received 14 first-place votes and 307 points.

Army, which scored in the final seconds Saturday to gain a 14-7 victory over Rice, collected the other first-place vote and 233 points while remaining third. Auburn held fourth place with 212 points.

Wisconsin, 184, Oklahoma, 169, Purdue 126, Mississippi 102, North Western, 52, and Pittsburgh, 46, completed the top 10.

Syracuse Is 11th

Syracuse headed the second 10 with 39 points. The Air Force Academy, Ohio State, North Carolina, Texas Christian, Rice, Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech, Navy, Notre Dame and Florida rounded out the second 10.

Notre Dame and California tied for 20th. These 21 teams were the only ones mentioned on the ballots this week.

Each coach votes for 10 teams in the order he rates them nationally. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through tenth place.

Pittsburgh's 29-26 triumph over Notre Dame Saturday enabled the Panthers to make the biggest advance in the ratings this week, moving from 20th to 10th. Notre Dame suffered the biggest drop, slipping from 10th into a tie for 20th.

Ohio State dropped from ninth to 13th after playing a 14-14 tie with Purdue.

Woodard Victim Of "Wild Bullet" In St. Nick Bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unbeaten Victor Zalazar Argentina's "wild bullet," made an impressive United States debut Monday night by stopping middleweight Otis Woodard in the fifth round at St. Nicholas Arena for his 14th consecutive knockout in 14 professional starts.

Zalazar, lanky and black-haired, gave Woodard of New York such an all-around battering to body and head that referee Mark Conn stopped the bout at 2:36 of the fifth round and awarded the Argentine dynamiter a technical knockout.

Zalazar, packing 157 pounds on a six-foot frame, proved a terrific body puncher as well as a long-range marksman to the head. Woodard scaled 160 pounds.

The Argentine knockout specialist, whom manager Freddie Fierro calls the "wild bullet," as a takeoff on the old-time "wild bull" Luis Angel Firpo, who once knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring.

Zalazar, 23 and favored at 2 to 1, was the aggressor in every round against 24-year-old Woodard a stablemate of middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

Campbell Sets Speed Record

Travels 248.62 MPH On Lake In Bluebird

LAKE CONISTON, England (AP)—Donald Campbell Monday flashed to a world water speed record of 248.62 miles an hour and then set his sights on new breath-taking speeds on both water and land.

He said he aims to break a 300 m.p.h. water record and 400 m.p.h. in a new car he is now building.

Campbell set the new mark—his fifth in three years—in the gracefully slim jet hydroplane Bluebird. He easily bettered his old record of 239.07 m.p.h., set Nov. 7, 1957.

Now the 37-year-old son of the famous British speed king, Sir Malcolm Campbell, has three new targets—275 m.p.h. next year on water, 300 m.p.h. in 1960 and a new land speed record of 400 m.p.h. in a car being built.

The late Sir John Cobb established the land record of 394.2 m.p.h. on Bonneville Salt Flats, Urah, in 1947. Cobb was killed on Loch Ness, Scotland, six years ago while trying for a water speed record.

MacPhail Is Hired As General Manager

BALTIMORE (AP)—Paul Richards said Monday he had asked the Baltimore Orioles to relieve him of one half of his manager-general manager title but they relieved him of the other.

That's why he'll stick to managing the club on the field next year and Lee MacPhail has been hired as general manager, Richards told a press conference.

Marshall Favors 20-Player Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, Monday renewed his proposal that pro football clubs be allowed to draft only 20 instead of the present 30 college players every year.

"And I think that later we ought to go down to 10," Marshall said.

St. Mary's To Play St. Patrick's Today

St. Patrick's and St. Mary's will clash today at 3:30 p. m., at Marydale Field in a Catholic Youth Football League game.

At the present time St. Patrick's and SS. Peter & Paul are tied for first place in the league with 2-1 records.

St. Mary's must play St. Patrick's and SS. Peter and Paul before the regular season ends on Sunday. If the current leaders both beat St. Mary's the race will end in a tie, necessitating a playoff for the championship.

St. Patrick's holds a 35-13 decision over St. Mary's.

Grid Experts Agree—Louisiana State Tigers Rated No. 1

Auburn Takes 4th Place In AP Balloting

Wildcats Tumble From Select Ten; TCU In 9th Place

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's going to take a stout crowbar to pry Louisiana State out of first place in the weekly Associated Press college football poll if the Tigers continue to manhandle their opponents as they did Duke last Saturday. It was their third week as No. 1 team.

The sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the voting, impressed by the 50-18 victory over the Iowa Hawkeyes, who clinched the Big Ten title Saturday, again in the No. 2 spot.

Army Holds Third

Army held its No. 3 position despite the fact the wilting Cadets had a bad score, pulling out a victory over Rice with a long pass in the final seconds of their game at Houston.

Auburn displaced Northwestern in the fourth place, as the Big Ten school dropped out of the top 10 as a result of its defeat by Wisconsin.

Northwestern, in fact, was the only one of the top 10 teams of a week ago to fail to make it this week. Oklahoma held its No. 6 spot, Wisconsin moved up from seventh to fifth, Mississippi jumped from ninth to seventh, Purdue held to No. 8, and the Air Force remained No. 10.

T C U Is Newcomer

The newcomer to the select list is Texas Christian, which moved from 11th to 9th.

Louisiana State gathered 95 first place votes in holding its lead with a total of 1,532 points. Iowa got 52 votes for the top spot and accumulated 1,441 points. The only other teams in the top 10 to be backed for No. 1 were Auburn, with six votes; Oklahoma with 3, and Mississippi with 2.

2.	Iowa (52)	(6-0-1)	1,441

Terps Lineup Is Shaken Up

Breedlove Dropped To The Third Team

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Tommy Mont of Maryland took one look at films of Navy's 40-14 slaughter of the Terps last Saturday, then shook up his starting lineup Monday.

Mont also sent his men through a full-scale scrimmage in full gear for the first time on a Monday this season.

The Navy game was "one of the, if not the, poorest performance (sic) by a Maryland team this year," he said. He also ordered another full-scale workout Tuesday.

Mont hoped the changes at guard, end and halfback would put some pep into the Terps before Friday night's contest in the Orange Bowl against Miami.

Right guard Tom Gunderman was dropped to the second team and sophomore Pete Boinis, third-team guard, moved into Gunderman's spot.

Rodney Breedlove, All-Conference and mentioned for All America last year, dropped all the way to third team and was replaced at left guard by Bill Lazaro.

Iowa Drops To 2nd Spot In UPI Poll

Army Retains 3rd Place; Panthers Back In Top Ten

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Louisiana State Tigers, surprise team of the 1958 college football season, today climaxed a steady climb in the United Press International ratings by replacing Iowa in first place.

Louisiana State moved up from 17th during the past five weeks and took the No. 1 spot in the wake of a 50-18 Saturday night triumph over Duke that boosted its record to 8-0. Iowa, the new Big Ten champion, slipped to second.

Pitt In Top Ten

Pittsburgh and Mississippi moved back into the top 10 while Ohio State and Notre Dame dropped out. Ohio State, the 1957 Big Ten champion, has been slipping steadily in the ratings and fell out of the select group for the first time this season.

The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams for UPI gave Louisiana State 20 first-place votes and a total of 324 points. Iowa, the other big vote getter, received 14 first-place votes and 307 points.

Army, which scored in the final seconds Saturday to gain a 14-7 victory over Rice, collected the other first-place vote and 233 points while remaining third. Auburn held fourth place with 212 points.

Wisconsin, 184, Oklahoma, 169, Purdue 126, Mississippi 102, North Western, 52, and Pittsburgh, 46, completed the top 10.

Syracuse Is 11th

Syracuse headed the second 10 with 39 points. The Air Force Academy, Ohio State, North Carolina, Texas Christian, Rice, Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech, Navy, Notre Dame and Florida rounded out the second 10.

Notre Dame and California tied for 20th. These 21 teams were the only ones mentioned on the ballots this week.

Each coach votes for 10 teams in the order he rates them nationally. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through tenth place.

Pittsburgh's 29-26 triumph over Notre Dame Saturday enabled the Panthers to make the biggest advance in the ratings this week, moving from 20th to 10th. Notre Dame suffered the biggest drop, slipping from 10th into a tie for 20th.

Ohio State dropped from ninth to 13th after playing a 14-14 tie with Purdue.

Woodard Victim Of "Wild Bullet" In St. Nick Bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Unbeaten Victor Zalazar Argentina's "wild bullet," made an impressive United States debut Monday night by stopping middleweight Otis Woodard in the fifth round at St. Nicholas Arena for his 14th consecutive knockout in 14 professional starts.

Zalazar, lanky and black-haired, gave Woodard of New York such an all-around battering to body and head that referee Mark Conn stopped the bout at 2:36 of the fifth round and awarded the Argentine dynamiter a technical knockout.

Zalazar, packing 157 pounds on a six-foot frame, proved a terrific body puncher as well as a long-range marksman to the head. Woodard scaled 160 pounds.

The Argentine knockout specialist, whom manager Freddie Fierro calls the "wild bullet," as a takeoff on the old-time "wild bull" Luis Angel Firpo, who once knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring.

Zalazar, 23 and favored at 2 to 1, was the aggressor in every round against 24-year-old Woodard a stablemate of middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

Campbell Sets Speed Record

Travels 248.62 MPH On Lake In Bluebird

LAKE CONISTON, England (AP)—Donald Campbell Monday flashed to a world water speed record of 248.62 miles an hour and then set his sights on new breath-taking speeds on both water and land.

He said he aims to break a 300 m.p.h. water record and 400 m.p.h. in a new car he is now building.

Campbell set the new mark—his fifth in three years—in the gracefully slim jet hydroplane Bluebird. He easily bettered his old record of 239.07 m.p.h., set Nov. 7, 1957.

Now the 37-year-old son of the famous British speed king, Sir Malcolm Campbell, has three new targets—275 m.p.h. next year on water, 300 m.p.h. in 1960 and a new land speed record of 400 m.p.h. in a car being built.

The late Sir John Cobb established the land record of 394.2 m.p.h. on Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, in 1947. Cobb was killed on Loch Ness, Scotland, six years ago while trying for a water speed record.

Title Grid Games Set For Saturday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—East Bank meets Parkersburg at Charleston and Sissonville plays Clarksburg Roosevelt Wilson at Buckhannon Saturday for two West Virginia high school football championships.

Arrangements for the Class A game are incomplete. It probably will be played at Dunbar Nov. 22 with Winfield as one of the participants.

MacPhail Is Hired As General Manager

BALTIMORE (AP)—Paul Richards said Monday he had asked the Baltimore Orioles to relieve him of one half of his manager-general manager title but they relieved him of the other.

That's why he'll stick to managing the club on the field next year and Lee MacPhail has been hired as general manager, Richards told a press conference.

Unitas To Wear Brace Over Ribs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Star quarterback John Unitas of the Baltimore Colts got out of a hospital Monday and went to the team's training room where he was fitted for a special brace over his fractured ribs.

Doctors said he could go through a light workout by jogging around the Memorial Stadium turf Tuesday.

Although the muskrat builds its houses in the water and spends much of its time swimming, it will hunt for food inland.

Odds On Ballymoss Cut To 6-5 For International Today

Zaryad Gets No. 1 Spot In Laurel Race

Clem, U.S. Hope, Is Second Choice, In $100,000 Test

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — With a firm and fast grass course in prospect for the Washington, D.C. International Tuesday, the odds on favored Ballymoss were shortened, but Russia scored a strategical victory in the draw for post positions.

Zaryad, the pacemaking half of the Soviet team, drew the No. 1 spot when formal entries were made Monday morning. Garnir, the late comer who beat Zaryad in the Moscow Derby, was on the extreme outside in No. 10. Sandwiched in between were eight horses from six other nations. This is the seventh running of the $100,000 classic in which the winner collects $70,000.

Ballymoss Is 6 To 5

Ballymoss, champion of Europe who runs for Ireland but is owned by John McShain of Philadelphia, got No. 7 post in the draw. The Irish-bred colt's odds were sliced from 8 to 5 to 6 to 5 for the mile and one half battle on the grass course.

Clear and cool weather was forecast with the temperature in the upper 50s by the 3:45 p.m. (EST) posttime. Ballymoss, who won the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes and the Prix de L'arc de Triomphe, runs in about the middle of the pack and makes his move in the stretch. He won the Arc de Triomphe on a track softened by rain, but trainer Vincent O'Brien said he prefers firm footing.

Clem Draws No. 8

Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem, second choice at 4 to 1, runs on the front end, but he drew No. 8 post and Jockey Willie Shoemaker will have to get him away flying to gain position. Right alongside Clem in the walkup start is the other U.S. representative, Mrs. Herbert Hoff's Tudor Era.

The German horse, Baron Henry Thyssens' Orsini, got the No. 2 post.

Alfredo Lechin's Escribano, from Venezuela, drew No. 3; Tharp, an Irish colt brought over by Carleton H. Palmer of New York, is No. 4; Australia's handicap champion, Sailor's Guide, owned by A. C. Dibb and his son, Keith, drew No. 5; and No. 6 went to Dr. Erwin Wasserman's Revoque, from Argentina.

Grooms Are Charged With Altering Race Tickets At Laurel

FERNDALE (AP)—Two grooms at Laurel Race course have been charged with altering a daily double ticket at the track last Saturday and trying to collect the $328.60 the double returned.

The two, Cleveland J. Moore, 30, of Bowie, and Raymond E. Matthews, 18, of Laurel, were being held in $1,500 bail each pending action of the Anne Arundel County grand jury.

Police Lt. Leo J. Kinsey told Magistrate Louis J. DeAlba at their hearing that Moore bought a daily double tickets on numbers 12 and 1. The No. 2 horse won the first race and No. 1 won the second.

Kinsey said Moore erased the figure 1 from the 12 and gave Matthews the ticket to cash.

But Cashier Charles A. Ryon noticed the erasure and summoned track policemen who nabbed Moore and Matthews and turned them over to county police.

Robinson, 7th grader at Fort Hill, scored on a 38-yard pass interception and on a 10-yard pass from Mike Miller. Proudfoot made his td on a 30-yard pass from Rich Robinson and caught a pass from Miller for the extra point. Miller passed 30 yards to Don Rice for the other six-pointer.

Penn Avenue and Williams Street had won five and lost one prior to yesterday's playoff contest.

Michelosen Will Coach Bowl Team

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt Coach Johnny Michelosen received a bowl invitation Monday, but it didn't include his Panther Players.

Michelosen disclosed at the weekly meeting of the Curbstone Coaches that he has been asked to help coach the East team in the annual East-West Shrine game at San Francisco. He accepted.

While their coach is assured of spending the holidays away from home, the Panthers still were uncertain about their plans for New Year's Day.

Three bowl committees — the Orange, Cotton and 'Gator—have disclosed that Pitt is still in the running for a possible invitation. There has been no definite offer, however, but the Panthers' stock no doubt soared following their 29-26 upset of Notre Dame last Saturday.

Charles Town Race Meeting Opens Dec. 18

Pimlico Officials Will Have Charge

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Charles Town Race Track, which has thrived in the past on dead of winter racing, will get another crack at it Dec. 18-31 and probably for a total of 44 days running through Feb. 7.

The meeting will be staged by the same group of Baltimore racing officials who conducted a successful 75-day meeting at the Eastern Panhandle track last summer.

The West Virginia Racing Commission announced today in Baltimore that it has granted the 11-day December meeting, Dec. 18-31 exclusive of Christmas Day, to Ben and Herman Cohen and Louis Pondfield, officials of Pimlico Race Track in Baltimore.

They will operate the three-quarter mile West Virginia oval as Charles Town Inc. under a lease agreement with Mrs. Helene Boyle, widow of the late Albert J. Boyle who built the track in 1933 and operated it until his death in 1957.

The West Virginia Racing Commission said it would receive applications "for the extension and continuation" of the Charles Town meeting through Feb. 7 at its next regular meeting Dec. 1.

West Virginia law prohibits the commission from assigning next year dates prior

Odds On Ballymoss Cut To 6-5 For International Today

Zaryad Gets No. 1 Spot In Laurel Race

Clem, U.S. Hope, Is Second Choice, In $100,000 Test

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — With a firm and fast grass course in prospect for the Washington, D.C. International Tuesday, the odds on favored Ballymoss were shortened, but Russia scored a strategical victory in the draw for post positions.

Zaryad, the pacemaking half of the Soviet team, drew the No. 1 spot when formal entries were made Monday morning. Garnir, the late comer who beat Zaryad in the Moscow Derby, was on the extreme outside in No. 10. Sandwiched in between were eight horses from six other nations. This is the seventh running of the $100,000 classic in which the winner collects $70,000.

Ballymoss Is 6 To 5

Ballymoss, champion of Europe who runs for Ireland but is owned by John McShain of Philadelphia, got No. 7 post in the draw. The Irish-bred colt's odds were sliced from 8 to 5 to 6 to 5 for the mile and one half battle on the grass course.

Clear and cool weather was forecast with the temperature in the upper 50s by the 3:45 p.m. (EST) posttime. Ballymoss, who won the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes and the Prix de L'arc de Triomphe, runs in about the middle of the pack and makes his move in the stretch. He won the Arc de Triomphe on a track softened by rain, but trainer Vincent O'Brien said he prefers firm footing.

Clem Draws No. 8

Mrs. Adele L. Rand's Clem, second choice at 4 to 1, runs on the front end, but he drew No. 8 post and Jockey Willie Shoemaker will have to get him away flying to gain position. Right alongside Clem in the walkup start is the other U.S. representative, Mrs. Herbert Hoff's Tudor Era.

The German horse, Baron Henry Thyssens' Orsini, got the No. 2 post.

Alfredo Lechin's Escribano, from Venezuela, drew No. 3; Tharp, an Irish colt brought over by Carleton H. Palmer of New York, is No. 4; Australia's handicap champion, Sailor's Guide, owned by A. C. Dibb and his son, Keith, drew No. 5; and No. 6 went to Dr. Erwin Wasserman's Revoque, from Argentina.

Grooms Are Charged With Altering Race Tickets At Laurel

FERNDALE (AP)—Two grooms at Laurel Race course have been charged with altering a daily double ticket at the track last Saturday and trying to collect the $328.60 the double returned.

The two, Cleveland J. Moore, 30, of Bowie, and Raymond E. Matthews, 18, of Laurel, were being held in $1,500 bail each pending action of the Anne Arundel County grand jury.

Police Lt. Leo J. Kinsey told Magistrate Louis J. DeAlba at their hearing that Moore bought a daily double tickets on numbers 12 and 1, The No. 2 horse won the first race and No. 1 won the second.

Kinsey said Moore erased the figure 1 from the 12 and gave Matthews the ticket to cash.

But Cashier Charles A. Ryon noticed the erasure and summoned track policemen who nabbed Moore and Matthews and turned them over to county police.

Robinson, 7th grader at Fort Hill, scored on a 38-yard pass interception and on a 10-yard pass from Mike Miller. Proudfoot made his td on a 30-yard pass from Rich Robinson and caught a pass from Miller for the extra point. Miller passed 30 yards to Don Rice for the other six-pointer.

Penn Avenue and Williams Street had won five and lost one prior to yesterday's playoff contest.

Michelosen Will Coach Bowl Team

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt Coach Johnny Michelosen received a bowl invitation Monday, but it didn't include his Panther Players.

Michelosen disclosed at the weekly meeting of the Curbstone Coaches that he has been asked to help coach the East team in the annual East-West Shrine game at San Francisco. He accepted.

While their coach is assured of spending the holidays away from home, the Panthers still were uncertain about their plans for New Year's Day.

Three bowl committees — the Orange, Cotton and Gator—have disclosed that Pitt is still in the running for a possible invitation. There has been no definite offer, however, but the Panthers' stock no doubt soared following their 29-26 upset of Notre Dame last Saturday.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 NT.	Pass	3 NT.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: (club) jack.

East pulled off a neat deceptive maneuver today to defeat a three no trump contract that was, on the surface, unbeatable. A casual survey reveals that declarer has 10 cashable tricks. How a mirage of sorts reduced these 10 to seven is the basis of this tale.

For want of anything better, West opened the jack of clubs, which was taken by dummy's ace. A spade was led to the 10 and West won with the king. West continued with the ten of clubs, which was permitted to hold, and now he shifted to the 9 of hearts.

East's jack forced the king and declarer led the king of diamonds, taken by West's ace. West returned the heart deuce, to suggest that he originally started with a doubleton, and South played the ace from dummy and led another spade.

At this point East made the key play of the deal when he put up the queen of spades. His theory was, "Declarer intends to finesse for the queen anyway so I will be revealing nothing by playing it. But he does not know my distribution which I will try to conceal from him.

From declarer's standpoint, East's play of the queen of spades on the second lead of that suit marked West with the 9-7 of that suit and the hand could be won only by projecting an end play against West.

So he cashed the king of clubs, on which West discarded a diamond, and then he played queen, jack and another diamond, throwing West in for the projected end play in spades.

But West produced the six of hearts for partner to take the balance of the tricks.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 NT.	Pass	3 NT.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: (club) jack.

East pulled off a neat deceptive maneuver today to defeat a three no trump contract that was, on the surface, unbeatable. A casual survey reveals that declarer has 10 cashable tricks. How a mirage of sorts reduced these 10 to seven is the basis of this tale.

For want of anything better, West opened the jack of clubs, which was taken by dummy's ace. A spade was led to the 10 and West won with the king. West continued with the ten of clubs, which was permitted to hold, and now he shifted to the 9 of hearts.

East's jack forced the king and declarer led the king of diamonds, taken by West's ace. West returned the heart deuce, to suggest that he originally started with a doubleton, and South played the ace from dummy and led another spade.

At this point East made the key play of the deal when he put up the queen of spades. His theory was, "Declarer intends to finesse for the queen anyway so I will be revealing nothing by playing it. But he does not know my distribution which I will try to conceal from him.

From declarer's standpoint, East's play of the queen of spades on the second lead of that suit marked West with the 9-7 of that suit and the hand could be won only by projecting an end play against West.

So he cashed the king of clubs, on which West discarded a diamond, and then he played queen, jack and another diamond, throwing West in for the projected end play in spades.

But West produced the six of hearts for partner to take the balance of the tricks.

Card of Thanks

WE take this means to thank our friends for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement, the death of John Delano Clark, Aberdeen, Maryland. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and sympathy cards.
THE FAMILY

WE desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Marshal Linthicum. We especially wish to thank Rev. H. M. Richardson, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To any one who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.
HUSBAND, SONS, and DAUGHTERS

WE take this means to thank our friends for their kindness to us during our recent bereavement, the death of Miss Anna M. Naughton. We also wish to thank those who sent Mass offerings, those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.
W. H. NAUGHTON and WIFE

WE desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Sara M. Faller. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.
BERNARD J. FALLER and SON

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died 13 years ago today, November 11, 1945.
When we step beyond life's gateway,
As our loved one now has done,
We shall find a land of beauty,
With a never setting sun.
Sleep today, Oh dearest Harry,
In thy green and narrow bed.
Petals from our own white roses,
Mingle with the tears we shed.
Very much missed by his Mother, Brothers & Sisters

Damage Suit Is Removed

A damage suit brought by a Cumberland couple against the B&O Railroad Company and the Real Estate Improvement Company of Baltimore City has been moved to Washington County for trial in Circuit Court at Hagerstown.

W. Earle Cobey, attorney for George and Frances C. Reuschel, said the suit was docketed in Circuit Court here some time ago and has been removed on motion of defense counsel, William A. Gunter.

The Reuschels were suing on claims of a breach of covenants in deeds to several properties in Frazier Place Addition.

The railroad is building yards in the area and the Reuschels claim the deeds to their properties carry covenants against any commercial buildings in the addition.

Damage Suit Is Removed

A damage suit brought by a Cumberland couple against the B&O Railroad Company and the Real Estate Improvement Company of Baltimore City has been moved to Washington County for trial in Circuit Court at Hagerstown.

W. Earle Cobey, attorney for George and Frances C. Reuschel, said the suit was docketed in Circuit Court here some time ago and has been removed on motion of defense counsel, William A. Gunter.

The Reuschels were suing on claims of a breach of covenants in deeds to several properties in Frazier Place Addition.

The railroad is building yards in the area and the Reuschels claim the deeds to their properties carry covenants against any commercial buildings in the addition.

Surplus Food Applications Being Taken

Program Expected To Start December 1

Several agencies have started taking applications from communities in the county for the surplus food program which is hoped to get underway about December 1.

Captain Daniel Biggs of the Salvation Army, Miss Jeanette Bonig of the Associated Charities and representatives of the Red Cross will meet with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to make final plans for the food distribution.

Families interested in making applications for surplus food may contact any one of these three agencies for application forms.

Food stuffs which will be available when the program starts next month will be corn meal, dry milk, butter and cheese, rice and whole wheat flour.

An income scale has been set up by the county for various size groups who may participate in the donable foods program. Representatives of each agency must screen every application before the group may take part in the program.

Also certain property owners and persons with certain liquid assets are ineligible for the food program.

Grant Wiebel, who has an office in the County Building on Union Street, is in charge of the food program.

Soil Bank Acreage Is Oversubscribed

Farmers in Maryland have offered 82,000 acres of land in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank for 1959, according to the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Funds needed to accept this acreage amount to $2,258,647.

This amount will be needed to pay 1959 rentals and to support about half of the cost of carrying out the long-term conservation measures needed on this land. With only $1,461,000 available for this program in 1959, it was indicated it would be necessary to accept farms on a priority basis.

First priority will go to farmers who had land in both the Conservation Reserve and Acreage Reserve in 1958 and now want to add land to the Conservation Reserve Acreage. Second priority goes to farmers offering all of the eligible acreage in the program and third priority to farmers offering land at the lowest percentage of the farm rental figure.

Cresaptown School will observe American Education Week this week with Visitation Day Wednesday for parents of all the students.

The regular meeting of the PTA will be held Thursday at 7:15 p.m. followed by the business meeting at 8 p.m. Room visitation will be held after the business meeting.

Four Boys To Get Hearing Thursday

Four Slabtown youths will receive a hearing Thursday in Juvenile Court in a series of breaking and entering cases involving the theft of over $1,000 worth of groceries, cigarets and other items.

The arrest of the four boys apparently has solved at least 11 cases, State Police said. The four were taken to City Jail in Cumberland over the week-end and yesterday were transferred to Allegany County Jail to await the hearing.

Sgt. William F. Baker and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya investigated the cases. Three of the boys are 15 years old and the other lad is 18.

State FTA To Convene Saturday

Allegany County will be represented at the ninth annual fall convention of the Maryland Association of Future Teachers of America which will be held Saturday at the Towson State Teachers College.

The theme of the convention, which will begin at 9 a. m., will be "Specialties Within A Specialty." At the first general session, Beverly J. Bosworth, president of MAFTA, will preside. Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of the Towson State Teachers College, will make the keynote address.

The executive committee of the Maryland Association of Future Teachers includes Jane P. Nommensen, Allegany High School, second vice president, and Dottie L. Downes, Frostburg State Teachers College, member-at-large.

The Maryland Association of Future Teachers of America is sponsored by the State Teachers' Association as one of its activities in the recruitment of teachers. Conference Set On Air Service

A conference is scheduled this morning at 9:30 a. m. in City Hall in connection with the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Participating will be City Attorney William C. Carscaden and Rudolph A. Drenna(director of aeronautics for the State Aviation Commission.

The principal topic is expected to be joint action on the continuation of commercial air service here.

The airport is now served by Allegheny Airlines, whose certificate for temporary service here expires February 10. The line has been attempting for some to drop the city from its schedule.

The city is expected to make a strong bid at Civil Aeronautics Board hearings to have Cumberland certified for air service.

Each winner will receive a book this week at the American Education Week Assembly.

VFW Will Observe "Open House" Today

In observance of Veterans Day, Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, will observe "open house" this evening at the post home on Union Street.

The public is invited to inspect the newly-decorated quarters on the second floor. Music will be provided by a five-piece orchestra and there will be no cover charge. The affair will begin after the street parade here.

Holsinger To Attend FBI Conference

First Sgt. Harry Holsinger of the LaVale barracks of the State Police will attend the Federal Bureau of Investigation's conference on Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property tomorrow at McCormick Auditorium in Baltimore.

Sgt. Holsinger will accompany Capt. C. W. Magaha of Frederick, company commander of the State Police.

James J. Kelly, special agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said the conference will be operated on an open-forum basis on the criminal activity which each year costs the American public millions of dollars.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Cumberland Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn earlier indicated interest in attending the conference but said last night they probably will be unable to go.

directed to be reasonable in the enforcement of the ordinance since most of the shifting now done in the vicinity of city crossings will be discontinued upon the completion of the new Westbound operations of the freight house.

Railroad officials explained that the westerly limit of the present westbound yards is Baltimore Street and . . . . freights have become much longer due to the Diesel program as well as being an economic necessity as upon occasion a large section of freight trains might be moved over the crossings before they are finally put together, so that they will be ready to leave the yard.

Cooperation Urged

It was suggested that Eastbound trains coming into Cumberland through the Narrows shall stop prior to Franklin Street, and shall stop back at a sufficient distance so that the automatic signal gates at Franklin Street will remain open.

It was the consensus of all those in attendance that both the city and the railroad will have to cooperate in trying to solve the various mutual problems.

The conference was attended by the Mayor and Council, City Attorney William R. Carscaden, Police Chief R. E. Flynn and Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, for the city, and T. J. Klauenberg, division superintendent, and Ronald W. Pitcher, terminal trainmaster, for the B & O.

It was requested by Commissioner Fleming following reports that B & O trains were blocking the crossings for excessive periods.

Walk Lights May Change

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming will conduct a study of local walk light regulations to explore a change in procedure which would affect all traffic signals.

The Mayor and Council authorized the study yesterday with the understanding Fleming would submit a report as soon as possible. There was no elaboration on the plan at yesterday's meeting.

On another police matter, Fleming was authorized to employe Clara E. Crowe as a school crossing guard effective November 6 and to employ two additional guards effective November 13.

Fleming said the number of school crossing guards has dropped from 11 to five with the result that he is forced to detail men from the department to the various school areas during peak periods.

Fleming said that with the guard named yesterday and the two others which were authorized, "We can get by."

Driver Receives 55 Days In Jail

Walter Gormer, 38, of RD 1, Frostburg was fined $125 on motor vehicle charges resulting from a two-car collision on Midlothian Road yesterday morning.

Magistrate Fred Crowe of Frostburg sentenced Gormer to 55 days in Allegany County Jail in default of payment of the fines following a hearing yesterday afternoon.

State Police, who investigated, said a pickup truck operated by Gormer came around a curve apparently traveling too fast and sideswiped a Valley High School driver-instructor car which was carrying three students and their instructor. The youth then continued on down the road without stopping.

Police said the car had stopped along the road so one of the student drivers could practice starts on a hill. James Preskorn was the instructor.

Gormer was arrested by Trooper Bruce E. Diehl about 15 minutes after the accident occurred at 9:30 a. m.

Surplus Food Applications Being Taken

Program Expected To Start December 1

Several agencies have started taking applications from communities in the county for the surplus food program which is hoped to get underway about December 1.

Captain Daniel Biggs of the Salvation Army, Miss Jeanette Bonig of the Associated Charities and representatives of the Red Cross will meet with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to make final plans for the food distribution.

Families interested in making applications for surplus food may contact any one of these three agencies for application forms.

Food stuffs which will be available when the program starts next month will be corn meal, dry milk, butter and cheese, rice and whole wheat flour.

An income scale has been set up by the county for various size groups who may participate in the donable foods program. Representatives of each agency must screen every application before the group may take part in the program.

Also certain property owners and persons with certain liquid assets are ineligible for the food program.

Grant Wiebel, who has an office in the County Building on Union Street, is in charge of the food program.

Soil Bank Acreage Is Oversubscribed

Farmers in Maryland have offered 82,000 acres of land in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank for 1959, according to the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Funds needed to accept this acreage amount to $2,258,647.

This amount will be needed to pay 1959 rentals and to support about half of the cost of carrying out the long-term conservation measures needed on this land. With only $1,461,000 available for this program in 1959, it was indicated it would be necessary to accept farms on a priority basis.

First priority will go to farmers who had land in both the Conservation Reserve and Acreage Reserve in 1958 and now want to add land to the Conservation Reserve Acreage. Second priority goes to farmers offering all of the eligible acreage in the program and third priority to farmers offering land at the lowest percentage of the farm rental figure.

Plan Adopted For Keeping Crossings Open

Arrests, Reprimands May Be Imposed

The blocking of grade crossings is expected to dip to the minimum under a program worked out yesterday afternoon by officials of the City of Cumberland and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The plan calls for the Police Department to arrest train crews which violate the city's crossing blocking ordinance and for the railroad to reprimand crews violating reasonable regulations on the blocking of crossings.

Principal points made at the meeting in City Hall, according to Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, include:

The railroad stated that it was most anxious to cooperate with the City in connection with the traffic problem caused by the blocking of the railroad crossings as well as many other problems which the City has relative to the flow of traffic.

Will Move Traffic

The railroad explained it was necessary to do certain shifting over the Bedford and Frederick Street crossings around 5 p. m., due to the location of the City Freight Station, in that cars must be placed and removed to make connections with high-speed freight service leaving Cumberland early in the evening. The B&O said it would see that in such shifting that the yard cut would be made prior to the Frederick Street Crossing.

It was explained that approximately 7,000 freight cars per day are handled through the local yards and that it was a necessity that at some periods freights ran rather closely together. This is due to the "fleeting" of fast freight service. The railroad also stated that shifters using the crossing would be directed to allow traffic to move after the passage of a freight over the crossing prior to their resumption of shifting.

The question of passenger trains blocking the Harrison Street Crossing was discussed and it was explained that "westbound" diesel units obtain water from water connections, some of which are located on both sides of the crossing. The railroad stated that it would make every effort to have the crossing free, when possible.

To Reprimand Crews

The railroad stated that it would have the matter of blocking of crossings policed by the Terminal Officers and that Yard and Train Crews violating reasonable regulations as to the blocking of crossings, would be reprimanded.

The City Police Department was instructed by Commissioner Fleming to make arrests of train crews violating Section 32 of Chapter 14, which provides that no railroad crossing should be blocked longer than five minutes.

The Police Department was

Hearing Set In Theft Case Of Young Boy

A hearing has been scheduled at 10 a. m. Thursday in Juvenile Court for a 12-year-old West Side boy who was arrested by City Police Sunday night in connection with a series of thefts, vandalism and other offenses.

Officer Clarence Valentine picked up the boy and a 15-year-old companion after a West Side woman telephoned that the youngster was peeping in her daughter's bedroom window.

Under questioning at Police Headquarters the younger boy admitted pulling a knife on two girls, looking into the girls' bedroom windows, turning in a false fire alarm at the Algonquin Hotel on Halloween night, damaging and ransacking several parked automobiles, stealing and destroying girls' underclothes from clothes lines, and the theft of and cashing of a $55 check belonging to Bruce Gates of 308 Magruder Street. The money for the check later was returned by the 12-year-old's aunt.

Police said they recovered numerous stolen items from the lad, including a transistor radio, several flashlights and flashlight batteries, a child's lunch box, a hunting knife, two small leather cases and other items. They added that the 15-year-old boy was questioned and released yesterday.

City police said the boy will be questioned further today.

Demos Plan Victory Dinner In January

Julius Schindler Named Chairman

The Democratic State Central Committee and successful candidates last night decided to hold a county-wide Victory dinner early in January, on a date which will be agreeable to Governor-elect J. Millard Tawes and other state candidates.

Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, who successfully chairmaned the pre-election fund raising dinner, was unanimously selected as the Victory Dinner chairman.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, said that the committeemen and elected candidates agreed that Mr. Schindler should select his own working committee and make complete arrangements for the time and place of the Victory dinner.

Despite much previous conjecture and rumor, this meeting was not called for the purpose of making any recommendations for political appointments. However, the committee delegated Mr. Finan, Edward J. Ryan, and William L. Wilson to check the state and county laws to determine just what appointments can be made.

Mr. Finan said the State Central Committee will meet again in about ten days to look over the list of available appointments, and after that time an announcement will be made as to what political jobs are available and the dates the appointments can become effective.

Some political jobs in the county he said, are not open until May, some at later dates and a few county positions at earlier dates. Many commission appointments such as the liquor board and school board are for fixed terms and these appointments can be made only as vacancies occur.

At last night's meeting were Mr. Finan who served as chairman, C. William McDermott, John R. Kelly and F. Allan Weatherholt, Cumberland; Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg, and William Kelly, Lonaconing, all members of the Democratic State Central Committee; William L. Wilson Jr., party treasurer, Leslie J. Clark, committee secretary; William C. Walsh, local political leader; William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., elected to the House of Delegates, and John Tucker Mason and John J. Rowan, elected to the board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The new county commissioners will take office on December 2, at which time they will appoint an attorney to the board, and will make such other appointments as are eligible by law in connection with reorganization of the county board.

This is the first time in almost 40 years that Democrats have been elected to any county office.

Miss Rosalie Femi Is Named Pancake Queen

About 1,350 persons enjoyed pancakes and sausage yesterday at the National Guard Armory, South Centre Street, with members of the Junior Association of Commerce and Jayncees as chefs and hostesses.

A highlight of the evening was the crowning of Cinderella Pancake II by Mayor J. Edwin Keech. The honor was bestowed on Miss Rosalie Femi, 19, of Braddock Avenue, LaVale, a receptionist in the office of Dr. Charles S. Beamer, dentist. She was awarded $75.

Second place winner, who received $25, was Miss Karen Teter, 20, of 170 Main Street, Ridgeley, a secretary. Miss Lorraine Hornick, 20, of Miller Road, Ridgeley, an employe of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, placed third and received $15.

Others in the queen contest were Miss Helen Paxton, 19, Williams Road; Miss Carol Jane Berry, 17, of 221 Mary Street; Miss Jerry Collins, 19, Baltimore Pike, and Miss Ann Drane of Piedmont.

Master of ceremonies was Ronald Screen who introduced Fred Hill and Buford Saville, co-chairmen of the second annual pancake and sausage event.

Also introduced were Edward Mullan, president of the Jaycees, and Bruce Anderson, chairman of the queen contest. The event began yesterday morning and wound up about 8 p. m.

County Issues Four Permits

Four building permits issued by the Allegany County assessing department authorize the construction of three homes and an addition to a rectory which will cost a total of about $36,000.

Lester McGill, Vocke Road, LaVale, was granted a permit to build a brick veneer dwelling at a cost of about $15,000. The 25 foot by 80 foot home in District Six will have a concrete block foundation and composition shingle roof as well as a partial cellar.

Horace Richards, of 309 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, was issued a permit to build a brick and frame dwelling which will cost about $12,000. The home, located in District 8 in the Horse Rock Hill Addition, will have a concrete block foundation, composition shingle roof and a cellar.

Lonaconing Man And Son Report Seeing Satellite

John Steiding of Lonaconing and his son, J. Robert, reported last night having seen what appeared to be one of the earth satellites coming into the earth's atmosphere.

Mr. Steiding and his son, a Valley High School student, reported seeing an object about 5:15 p. m. which seemed at first like a red star. It was moving from northwest to southeast, they said. At first it appeared to be round but later was observed as a long object.

Neither the Associated Press nor United Press International wire services reported any unusual activity last night concerning the satellites.

City Collects 70 Per Cent Of Its Levy

Spending Lags Two Points Under Par

The City of Cumberland completed the first four months of its fiscal year with over 86 per cent of its tax levy in, almost 70 per cent of the total levy collected and with spending lagging about two points under par.

A report on the condition of the levy, prepared yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, showed that by October 31, the city had collected $1,059,317.79, or 86.82 per cent of its $1,220,190 tax levy.

This leaves only $160,872.21 to be collected on 1958 taxes, and much of this sum is represented by corporation assessments not yet forwarded by the State Tax Commission.

Total collections during the first four months of the fiscal year were $1,331,132.17, or 69.87 per cent of the total $1,905,120 levy.

Still to be collected from the levy is $574,111.63. Major items are the balance of the tax levy and $177,373.23 of sewage service charges. The only expected income which might come up short is the city's $65,000 share of the state income tax which might be affected by last year's recession.

During the first four months, various city departments spent $490,513.09, or 31.42 per cent of the $1,561,144.25 set aside to provide services to the citizens of Cumberland.

This is nearly two per cent under the four month par of 33⅓.

All major departments were operating within their budgets.

For example, the Fire Department, with the top budget of $261,200 spent $88,074.88.

The Police Department, with a budget of $252,400, spent $84,974.56 of its operating budget.

The Recreation Department, with a budget of $35,000, had spent $17,570.06, about half of the year's allotment. Much of this sum, however, went for the summer playground program and the department has adopted a program, approved by the Mayor and Council, which calls for drastic cuts in the winter basketball program without curtailing activities.

The Street Cleaning fund of $60,000 still has $43,024.65 on hand. This is way under par but is normal for this time of the year, as extra funds are provided for snow removal.

Edgar Merritt, 53, husband of Mrs. Merritt, and the couple's son, Gary, 14, were released after treatment at the hospital Sunday.

Truck Driver Severely Hurt In Accident

Vehicle Overturns Near Mt. Savage

A 50-year-old Cumberland truck driver was severely injured yesterday afternoon when his coal-laden vehicle overturned, pinning him beneath it, about two miles north of Mount Savage.

David Folk, Homewood Addition, was admitted to Miners Hospital in Frostburg where his condition was described as "fair." X-rays will be taken today to determine the extent of the injuries.

The accident apparently occurred shortly after 6 p. m. as Folk was driving his truck from a strip mining operation on the old Williams farm off Mountain Road near Mt. Savage.

As the heavily-laden vehicle turned onto the highway from a dirt road leading to the mine, a five-foot embankment gave way under the truck's wheels, overturning it.

The driver was thrown from the cab of the vehicle and pinned beneath it. Officials at the mine took a bulldozer belonging to the coal-mining operation and pulled the truck off the victim.

Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company was called to the scene about 6:30 p. m. in the event the truck might have caught fire, but it did not burn.

Mr. Folk was taken to the Frostburg hospital by the Mt. Savage fire company's ambulance.

Marcus Means, 73-year-old Clearville, Pa., farmer who allegedly shot and killed an Everett truck driver October 31, yesterday was released from Bedford County Memorial Hospital and is being held in the Bedford County Jail awaiting arraignment on a murder charge.

Pennsylvania State Police said last night the hearing will be held some time this week.

Means was admitted to the hospital for surgery upon a bullet wound in his left shoulder, which authorities said was self-inflicted after he shot to death Oda Clingerman, a driver for a gasoline distributing company.

The 60-year-old Clingerman was found in the rear of his truck after he had delivered gasoline to the Means farm. He was shot in the left side with a high-powered rifle.

Means had been under a police guard at the hospital until his release from the institution yesterday.

Recaptured Youth Sets Escape Date

Says Occurred On Wednesday

The State's Attorney's Office learned definitely yesterday that Howard Maurice Iser, 37, of 222 Beall Street, and Robert C. Bryant, 18, of 446 Lamont Street, escaped from the County Jail early last Wednesday evening.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya took a statement from Bryant yesterday afternoon in which he stated he and Iser broke out of the county jail at 7 p. m. Wednesday. The escape was not discovered until Thursday morning.

Bryant surrendered to city police Saturday morning after spending nearly two days in an abandoned house on West Oldtown Road.

Mr. Lilya said the Bryant youth stated that Iser approached him in his cell last Tuesday and asked the youth if he wanted to break out of jail.

Bryant asked Iser how they would do it and Iser replied everything had been taken care of. The youth said the bars already were cut when they broke out of the jail cell and that Iser had propped up the sawed off bars with match sticks while waiting to get away.

The youth said he and Iser climbed down the outside of the jail building by using the bars on the windows. He said they then climbed hand over hand on the barbed wire for five or six feet before they were in a position to drop over the wall.

Mr. Lilya asked Bryant if he cut his hands while hand climbing the barbed wire and the youth said he sustained only several small scratches. He said Iser was prepared and wore a pair of gloves during the escape.

In the statement the youth said they walked to the area of Dixie Inn on West Virginia 28, where Iser located a .22 calibre rifle and cigarets in a burlap bag at the base of a tree.

The pair spent Wednesday night in that area and then split up Thursday morning about 10 o'clock. The youth told Mr. Lilya he became scared and was afraid to go on with Iser after Iser said the only way they would bring him (Iser) back was "feet first."

West Virginia State Police yesterday investigated a report that Iser was in the Short Gap area. It was reported that Iser has a sister who lives on a farm in that area but police from Keyser investigated and found no trace of the escapee who recently was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentary on a charge of armed robbery.

Oakland had its first measurable snowfall yesterday as R. E. Weber, weather observer there, reported one inch fell in that section from late Sunday night to early yesterday morning.

Mr. Weber said the temperature rose yesterday afternoon and just about all the snow had melted by late afternoon.

Thomas, W. Va., had one-inch at noon yesterday and snow flurries were reported yesterday in Frostburg.

The forecast today for Allegany County calls for increasing cloudiness and slightly higher temperatures. The unofficial high downtown yesterday was 50 degrees and the overnight low was 42 degrees.

It was three years ago yesterday that Cumberland and the area was hit by a 10-inch snowfall.

Construction Worker Killed In 50-Foot Fall

Second Man Is Hurt In Luke Mill Mishap

A West Virginia construction worker fell 50 feet to his death yesterday when scaffolding on which he was working collapsed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's Luke plant.

Another worker escaped with serious injuries when one of his legs caught on the scaffold and he hung head downward until he was rescued.

Authorities said Richard F. DeWitt, 32, of 3068 Sabraton Station, Morgantown, W. Va., was killed while working on the erection of the structural frame of a new building at the paper plant. Dr. Robert W. Bess, plant physician, pronounced Mr. DeWitt dead at the scene minutes after the accident which occurred at 11:10 a. m.

Death was attributed to a skull fracture and brain lacerations by the Allegany County deputy medical examiner's office.

Injured was Charles W. Atkinson, 34, of Kingwood, W. Va., who was working on the opposite end of the scaffold when it broke. Mr. Atkinson tried to grab the cable holding the scaffold but slipped to the middle of the scaffolding where his foot caught in a safety device. The device was intended to hold the scaffold in place.

Atkinson was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W. Va., with head and leg injuries and suffering from shock. Attendants there said last night his condition is "fair."

A third worker, Maxwell Atkinson, 30, also of Kingwood and a brother to Charles Atkinson, was about to step on the scaffold when it slipped. He was not injured. The three men had just put the scaffold in place when the accident occurred.

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has a $50,000,000 expansion program under way at the Luke concern. The Atkinsons and Mr. DeWitt were employed as boilermakers and welders on the construction job. Company officials said Mr. DeWitt had been working at the plant for approximately five months.

Tfc. Milton Hart of the State Police is investigating the accident. He said DeWitt was unmarried. He was a son of Mrs. Frank DeWitt of Morgantown.

DeWitt also was a navy veteran of World War II. He is survived by his mother and a sister.

The body was taken to the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport and will be transferred to the Jenkins Funeral Home in Morgantown for funeral services later this week.

40 Delegates Lack Experience In Legislature

Parsons said the largest group from a professional or occupational standpoint would be lawyers, with 26 delegates following this profession. Teachers and school administrators, the second largest group though materially reduced in number from previous session, totals 14, including some who are not now engaged in school work.

Plan Adopted For Keeping Crossings Open

Arrests, Reprimands May Be Imposed

The blocking of grade crossings is expected to dip to the minimum under a program worked out yesterday afternoon by officials of the City of Cumberland and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The plan calls for the Police Department to arrest train crews which violate the city's crossing blocking ordinance and for the railroad to reprimand crews violating reasonable regulations on the blocking of crossings.

Principal points made at the meeting in City Hall, according to Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, include:

The railroad stated that it was most anxious to cooperate with the City in connection with the traffic problem caused by the blocking of the railroad crossings as well as many other problems which the City has relative to the flow of traffic.

Will Move Traffic

The railroad explained it was necessary to do certain shifting over the Bedford and Frederick Street crossings around 5 p. m., due to the location of the City Freight Station, in that cars must be placed and removed to make connections with high-speed freight service leaving Cumberland early in the evening. The B&O said it would see that in such shifting that the yard cut would be made prior to the Frederick Street Crossing.

It was explained that approximately 7,000 freight cars per day are handled through the local yards and that it was a necessity that at some periods freights ran rather closely together. This is due to the "fleeting" of fast freight service. The railroad also stated that shifters using the crossing would be directed to allow traffic to move after the passage of a freight over the crossing prior to their resumption of shifting.

The question of passenger trains blocking the Harrison Street Crossing was discussed and it was explained that "westbound" diesel units obtain water from water connections, some of which are located on both sides of the crossing. The railroad stated that it would make every effort to have the crossing free, when possible.

To Reprimand Crews

The railroad stated that it would have the matter of blocking of crossings policed by the Terminal Officers and that Yard and Train Crews violating reasonable regulations as to the blocking of crossings, would be reprimanded.

The City Police Department was instructed by Commissioner Fleming to make arrests of train crews violating Section 32 of Chapter 14, which provides that no railroad crossing should be blocked longer than five minutes.

The Police Department was

Hearing Set In Theft Case Of Young Boy

A hearing has been scheduled at 10 a. m. Thursday in Juvenile Court for a 12-year-old West Side boy who was arrested by City Police Sunday night in connection with a series of thefts, vandalism and other offenses.

Officer Clarence Valentine picked up the boy and a 15-year-old companion after a West Side woman telephoned that the youngster was peeping in her daughter's bedroom window.

Under questioning at Police Headquarters the younger boy admitted pulling a knife on two girls, looking into the girls' bedroom windows, turning in a false fire alarm at the Algonquin Hotel on Halloween night, damaging and ransacking several parked automobiles, stealing and destroying girls' underclothes from clothes lines, and the theft of and cashing of a $55 check belonging to Bruce Gates of 308 Magruder Street. The money for the check later was returned by the 12-year-old's aunt.

Police said they recovered numerous stolen items from the lad, including a transistor radio, several flashlights and flashlight batteries, a child's lunch box, a hunting knife, two small leather cases and other items. They added that the 15-year-old boy was questioned and released yesterday.

City police said the boy will be questioned further today.

Demos Plan Victory Dinner In January

Julius Schindler Named Chairman

The Democratic State Central Committee and successful candidates last night decided to hold a county-wide Victory dinner early in January, on a date which will be agreeable to Governor-elect J. Millard Tawes and other state candidates.

Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, who successfully chairmaned the pre-election fund raising dinner, was unanimously selected as the Victory Dinner chairman.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, said that the committeemen and elected candidates agreed that Mr. Schindler should select his own working committee and make complete arrangements for the time and place of the Victory dinner.

Despite much previous conjecture and rumor, this meeting was not called for the purpose of making any recommendations for political appointments. However, the committee delegated Mr. Finan, Edward J. Ryan, and William L. Wilson to check the state and county laws to determine just what appointments can be made.

Mr. Finan said the State Central Committee will meet again in about ten days to look over the list of available appointments, and after that time an announcement will be made as to what political jobs are available and the dates the appointments can become effective.

Some political jobs in the county he said, are not open until May, some at later dates and a few county positions at earlier dates. Many commission appointments such as the liquor board and school board are for fixed terms and these appointments can be made only as vacancies occur.

At last night's meeting were Mr. Finan who served as chairman, C. William McDermott, John R. Kelly and F. Allan Weatherholt, Cumberland; Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg, and William Kelly, Lonaconing, all members of the Democratic State Central Committee; William L. Wilson Jr., party treasurer, Leslie J. Clark, committee secretary; William C. Walsh, local political leader; William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., elected to the House of Delegates, and John Tucker Mason and John J. Rowan, elected to the board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The new county commissioners will take office on December 2, at which time they will appoint an attorney to the board, and will make such other appointments as are eligible by law in connection with reorganization of the county board.

This is the first time in almost 40 years that Democrats have been elected to any county office.

Second place winner, who received $25, was Miss Karen Teter, 20, of 170 Main Street, Ridgeley, a secretary. Miss Lorraine Hornick, 20, of Miller Road, Ridgeley, an employe of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, placed third and received $15.

Others in the queen contest were Miss Helen Paxton, 19, Williams Road; Miss Carol Jane Berry, 17, of 221 Mary Street; Miss Jerry Collins, 19, Baltimore Pike, and Miss Ann Drane of Piedmont.

Lonaconing Man And Son Report Seeing Satellite

John Steiding of Lonaconing and his son, J. Robert, reported last night having seen what appeared to be one of the earth satellites coming into the earth's atmosphere.

Mr. Steiding and his son, a Valley High School student, reported seeing an object about 5:15 p. m. which seemed at first like a red star. It was moving from northwest to southeast, they said. At first it appeared to be round but later was observed as a long object.

Neither the Associated Press nor United Press International wire services reported any unusual activity last night concerning the satellites.

City Collects 70 Per Cent Of Its Levy

Spending Lags Two Points Under Par

The City of Cumberland completed the first four months of its fiscal year with over 86 per cent of its tax levy in, almost 70 per cent of the total levy collected and with spending lagging about two points under par.

A report on the condition of the levy, prepared yesterday by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, showed that by October 31, the city had collected $1,059,317.79, or 86.82 per cent of its $1,220,190 tax levy.

This leaves only $160,872.21 to be collected on 1958 taxes, and much of this sum is represented by corporation assessments not yet forwarded by the State Tax Commission.

Total collections during the first four months of the fiscal year were $1,331,132.17, or 69.87 per cent of the total $1,905,120 levy.

Still to be collected from the levy is $574,111.63. Major items are the balance of the tax levy and $177,373.23 of sewage service charges. The only expected income which might come up short is the city's $65,000 share of the state income tax which might be affected by last year's recession.

During the first four months, various city departments spent $490,513.09, or 31.42 per cent of the $1,561,144.25 set aside to provide services to the citizens of Cumberland.

This is nearly two per cent under the four month par of 33⅓.

All major departments were operating within their budgets.

For example, the Fire Department, with the top budget of $261,200 spent $88,074.88.

The Police Department, with a budget of $252,400, spent $84,974.56 of its operating budget.

The Recreation Department, with a budget of $35,000, had spent $17,570.06, about half of the year's allotment. Much of this sum, however, went for the summer playground program and the department has adopted a program, approved by the Mayor and Council, which calls for drastic cuts in the winter basketball program without curtailing activities.

The Street Cleaning fund of $60,000 still has $43,024.65 on hand. This is way under par but is normal for this time of the year, as extra funds are provided for snow removal.

Edgar Merritt, 53, husband of Mrs. Merritt, and the couple's son, Gary, 14, were released after treatment at the hospital Sunday.

Another worker escaped with serious injuries when one of his legs caught on the scaffold and he hung head downward until he was rescued.

Authorities said Richard F. DeWitt, 32, of 3068 Sabraton Station, Morgantown, W. Va., was killed while working on the erection of the structural frame of a new building at the paper plant. Dr. Robert W. Bess, plant physician, pronounced Mr. DeWitt dead at the scene minutes after the accident which occurred at 11:10 a. m.

Death was attributed to a skull fracture and brain lacerations by the Allegany County deputy medical examiner's office.

Injured was Charles W. Atkinson, 34, of Kingwood, W. Va., who was working on the opposite end of the scaffold when it broke. Mr. Atkinson tried to grab the cable holding the scaffold but slipped to the middle of the scaffolding where his foot caught in a safety device. The device was intended to hold the scaffold in place.

Atkinson was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W. Va., with head and leg injuries and suffering from shock. Attendants there said last night his condition is "fair."

A third worker, Maxwell Atkinson, 30, also of Kingwood and a brother to Charles Atkinson, was about to step on the scaffold when it slipped. He was not injured. The three men had just put the scaffold in place when the accident occurred.

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has a $50,000,000 expansion program under way at the Luke concern. The Atkinsons and Mr. DeWitt were employed as boilermakers and welders on the construction job. Company officials said Mr. DeWitt had been working at the plant for approximately five months.

Tfc. Milion Hart of the State Police is investigating the accident. He said DeWitt was unmarried. He was a son of Mrs. Frank DeWitt of Morgantown.

DeWitt also was a navy veteran of World War II. He is survived by his mother and a sister.

The body was taken to the Boal Funeral Home in Westernport and will be transferred to the Jenkins Funeral Home in Morgantown for funeral services later this week.

40 Delegates Lack Experience In Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. UPI — House of Delegates parliamentarian Oshel O. Parsons said Monday 40 members of the 54th House which convenes in January have had no prior legislative service.

Parsons, in an analysis of the Nov. 4 election results as it pertained to the House of Delegates, said 41 of the 100 member chamber had been members of the 53rd session which retires this year. Nineteen remaining members have served previous terms.

Among the 19, Parsons said, were two delegates who previously have served 12 terms in the chamber. George A. Rairden R-Mason was first elected in 1926 and Mrs. Nell W. Hall D-Raleigh, a former one-term Housemember also served a term in the Senate from 1942-46.

Parsons said the largest group from a professional or occupational standpoint would be lawyers, with 26 delegates following this profession. Teachers and school administrators, the second largest group though materially reduced in number from previous session, totals 14, including some who are not now engaged in school work.
